

ARGENTINA LEADS SOUTH AMERICAN NATIONS IN BITTER ATTACK ON RUSSIAN AGGRESSION

Defiant Miller Takes Office Across Hall From Patten

TWO WHO HELPED OUSTED CHAIRMAN ORDERED FIRED

Officials Declare That They Will Carry Out Orders of New Head, Ignoring Their Old Chief.

Lawson L. Patten and W. L. Miller, who lived peacefully as friends on the shores of Lanier county's Banks lake for a quarter of a century before politics made them bitter enemies, both occupied offices at the State Highway Department yesterday, each claiming to be chairman.

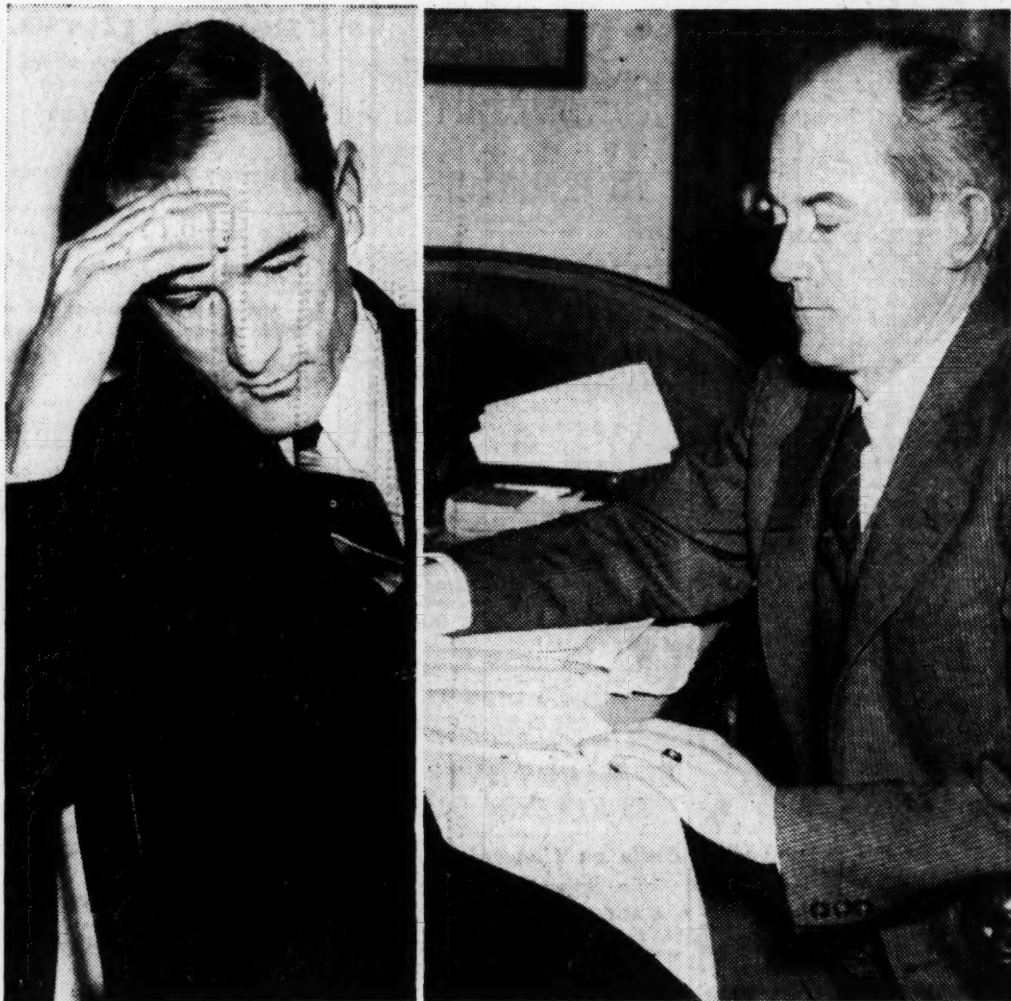

Patten functioned from the chairman's office by right of a board election following his appointment as a board member by Governor Rivers. Across the hall, Miller sat at a table in the board room and said he was functioning as chairman by virtue of a court order which wasn't served during the day.

Issues Few Orders.
Patten issued a few orders during the day. They were carried out by division heads who earlier had called upon him and pledged recognition. Miller issued no orders and asked no one to recognize him.

What happened to the court order signed at Nashville very early yesterday morning by Superior Judge William R. Smith became somewhat of a mystery as the day passed. No one showed up to serve it on Patten or S. Marvin Griffin, Governor Rivers' administrative aide, or two capital guards, long since relieved of any duty in connection with Miller's ouster.

The order of Judge Smith, a temporary injunction preventing Patten, Griffin and the guards from interfering with Miller's occupancy of the chairman's office, does not specify that anyone must recognize Miller as chairman and department officials let it be known that even if Miller is restored temporarily to the office space from which he was ejected Saturday night, they would continue to carry out Patten's orders and ignore Miller. Judge Smith has set the case for a hearing Saturday morning at Nashville; if and when the order is served, it appeared likely that Miller would have a desk and a chair in his office, if nothing more. All except one telephone was removed yesterday and shortly before the department closed for the day, every paper of any nature which had found its way to Miller's old desk, was back in the sub-office from which it originated.

Miller saw a few visitors during the day in the board room, where he took up office when guards re-

Nervous, a bit tired, but still in a fighting mood, W. L. Miller (left), ousted highway chief, pondered his next move yesterday as he set up offices in the board room of the highway building and insisted he was still chairman of the board. Meanwhile, L. L. Patten (right), of Lakeland, appointed by Governor Rivers to succeed Miller, took up his duties at the desk formerly occupied by Miller. He was conferring with department heads when Miller arrived and was forbidden to enter. Miller said he had informed division engineers he was still chairman and not to "become befuddled."

Ten Opportunities Refuse To Give Up

These Men and Women Battle Against Crushing Problems; A Contribution From You Would Lead Them Along the Road to Victory.

By FRANK DRAKE.

There is a big job to be done in this city before Christmas comes, Atlantans.

But it's a job that Atlantans have done cheerfully and willingly for years in the past and it's one which The Constitution is perfectly confident will be done this year—bigger and better than ever.

That is because most people like to help folks that try to help themselves. They admire the spirit of almost crushed men and women who refuse to say die and keep on struggling even in the face of the greatest difficulties.

These are the men and women that the Ten Opportunity fund goes to help. These are the families about whom you will read in The Constitution in a few days—the 10 neediest and most worthy families in Atlanta.

Everyone of these families is faced with a terrible problem. With some, it's sickness that has struck down the breadwinner. With others, it's death, desertion, or maybe physical injuries. Or perhaps, it's a problem of a more intangible nature. A mother's emotional instability might be the cause of a family problem.

But with all the Ten Opportunity families, it is the kind of disaster that might fall upon any one of us. Chances are some of these problems have struck within your

COUNCIL APPROVES COURT FOR TRAFFIC

Atlanta Fines, Costs in November, From All Cases, at All-Time High.

City council yesterday approved a police committee recommendation and voted to establish a special section of the recorder's court to try traffic cases exclusively and named Recorder John L. Cone to preside there.

The action followed a warning by Councilman John A. White, of the fifth ward, that "if this action is not right I'm going to vote to repeal it, because I do not propose to vote for anything which will make for even bigger police court business in 1940."

"I don't want the traffic court to be a paying business," White told council as he said he would reserve judgment. "It can become a racket."

Councilman Frank Wilson, of the sixth ward, interrupted to say, "Don't worry about that because next year is election year."

Only Councilman J. Allen Couch, of the third ward, voted against the new court. He asserted he was not convinced it was the right thing to do.

As the council was considering

NAZI SEA RAIDER SINKS 10,000-TON BRITISH STEAMER

Vessel Chalked Up as Victim of Admiral Scheer; Fate of Crew Is Unknown; Ship Is Sunk.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Another British vessel, this time the 10,086-ton steamer Doric Star, was chalked up tonight as a victim of the wide-ranging German sea raider, the Admiral Scheer.

The British admiralty's announcement said the Doric Star presumably went to the bottom after being "attacked by a German raider" in the South Atlantic. Unofficial information was that her attacker was the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Admiral Scheer.

This was the first report of the German sea raider since November 16 when some survivors of the British tanker, Africa Shell, sunk in the Indian ocean off the east coast of Africa, identified the enemy ship as the Admiral Scheer.

Homeward Bound.
Homeward bound with a cargo of meat from New Zealand and Australia under command of Captain W. Stubbs, of Liverpool, the Blue Star liner Doric Star had a crew of 70 and accommodations for six passengers.

No reports on the fate of the Doric Star's crew were available here, and it was not known whether she carried passengers.

In addition to the Doric Star, it was reported during the day that a British and one Swedish vessel were sunk by mines, another British ship was sunk in a collision and two other British ships were damaged in collisions. A German mine layer was reported sunk.

Victim of a mine, the 3,829-ton British freighter Eskdene went down. Her crew of 29 was landed in Scotland. The British steamer Hamsterley, 2,160 tons, was sunk in collision off the east coast of England with one man missing.

The Swedish steamer Rudolf, 2,159 tons, was reported sunk off the British coast Sunday and her crew of 23 saved.

Mysterious Collisions.
Mysterious collisions off the west coast of England damaged the 1,276-ton Scottish steamer Lairdsglen and the 1,064-ton Findhorn.

The admiralty report on the Doric Star said she had been attacked in the South Atlantic by a raider and "as no further information has been received it is presumed she has been sunk."

Since the early days of the war the British navy has been searching for the Admiral Scheer and her sister ship, the Deutschland, which have been preying on British shipping.

The first report on the Admiral Scheer was on October 2 when she sank the British freighter Clement off Bahia, Brazil. She last was reported in the Indian ocean in connection with the Africa Shell.

The Deutschland, which captured the American freighter City of Flint and sent her to Murmansk, Russia, in charge of a German prize crew, engaged and sank

Courtly Harbinger of 'Gone With Wind' Fete

Constitution Staff Photo—Bill Wilson.

And what's this walking down Peachtree street? H. A. Dixon, English-born visitor to Atlanta, was snapped by The Constitution photographer yesterday as he appeared on Peachtree street wearing his costume for the "Gone With the Wind" festivities. Dixon was the first person to appear publicly in a costume of the sixties as requested by the citizens' committee in charge of the celebration.

Spirit From '60's Walks on Peachtree

By YOLANDE GWIN.

There he was—walking down famous Peachtree street. Traffic slowed up. People stared. Faces were plastered against car windows. A few dogs barked. For he was the first man to appear on Peachtree street wearing an authentic costume of the era of Tara, Scarlett and Rhett. H. A. Dixon, born in Chester, England, reared on a tobacco plantation in Virginia, and now from Miami, was "strutting his stuff" yesterday afternoon, frock coat, top hat, cane and all.

He sauntered. He did not have the quick hurried step of the usual pedestrian. He was a courtly figure of the sixties, a gentleman of the old south, now mostly gone, but never forgotten. He suggested broad verandas, magnolias and mint juleps.

He was, nevertheless, the first male to answer the civic call to dress up in the costume of the days of "Gone With the Wind" as issued by Mayor Hartsfield.

Reporters stopped him. "Gone With the Wind" was of course his subject. He said:

"Gallantry has truly gone with the wind. Speed of the times has taken away the courtly manners of the past. When the men of today meet the ladies of the street, do they give them a deep courtly bow from the hips, and a wide sweep of their hat? No, they don't. They tip their hats, but they are soon replaced. In the sixties a man never talked with a lady with his hat on. Everything is too businesslike now. Men think of politeness, of course, but the politeness of today is a far cry from

Dine on Caviar, Rare Wine --Thanks to Derrick, Judge

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The James C. Lewises dined out gratis tonight on Finnish caviar, lobster Newburg, pressed duck, wines of rare vintage, and topped it off with a quiet night's sleep in a swank hotel — thanks to Magistrate Henry C. Curran and a noisy steam derrick.

This was the manna that fell from the magistrate's court today when Mr. and Mrs. Lewis complained that the sleep-shattering noise from construction of the new East River drive near their fashionable apartment was making wrecks of them.

The judge prescribed for the sleepy-eyed couple a night of food and fun, including a Broadway hit

U. S. AID PERILED BY ROAD ROW HERE

Highway Department Squabble May Further Becloud Georgia's Chances.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(P)—A strong possibility arose today Georgia's highway row might delay further payments from the state's already jeopardized share of federal road funds.

Although no report on State Highway Chairman W. L. Miller's removal had reached the public roads administration, officials here hinted the prospect of a court fight would cause them to hold up the Georgia money pending a settlement.

One said if litigation did develop, the administration probably would not be free to pay out federal money to a Highway Department whose chairmanship was in doubt.

It was emphasized, however, this question could not be determined definitely until a report on the affair was received from District Engineer C. D. Snead, Montgomery, Ala.

Officials said Georgia highway payments already had been complicated by a diversion of about $2,500,000 in gasoline tax money from Highway Department funds for use in paying school teachers' salaries.

Federal law provides a penalty, not yet invoked against Georgia, for diverting gasoline tax revenue to non-highway purposes.

SNEAD'S OFFICE HAS NO REPORT

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 4.—(P)—No report on the Georgia Highway Commission situation had been received here today at the office of Federal District Engineer C. D. Snead. Attaches said Snead was in Florida.

Highway Department Halls Present 'Added Attraction'

Corridors, Usually Quiet, Are Scene of Premieres by Miller and Patten Schools of Thought While Photographers, the Public and Press Watch.

By LUKE GREENE.

The usually quiet corridors of the State Highway Department building were turned into a noisy, bustling midway yesterday morning when two featured shows opened in competition with each other—one run by L. L. Patten, newly appointed chairman of the State Highway Board, who took over his office, and the other by W. L. Miller, ousted chairman who insisted he was still directing the affairs of the department.

Telephones buzzed. Spectators milled around in the halls. There was an incessant opening and closing of doors. Newspapermen stood with their eyes glued to the doors, waiting for the principals to appear. The intermittent flashing of bulbs from the cameras of photographers provided some of the glitter of a premiere.

Ousted Chairman Miller arrived at his office about 10 o'clock to find the door guarded by Woody Wilson, of the purchasing department, and M. M. Clark, of the revenue department. Inside Patten was in conference with department heads.

The guards refused to let Miller in. Both insisted they had not been delegated to watch the door but were only on a "social visit."

"That's my office, isn't it?" Miller queried as he started to walk in. One of the men caught him by the arm, turned him around and replied, "It used to be."

Miller then retired to the adjoining office of Jim L. Gillis, of Soperton, a member of the board. A lengthy conference followed.

There was more opening and closing of doors.

Newspapermen were called into the office of Chairman Patten. Grouped around him were the department heads engulfed in clouds of tobacco smoke. W. B. Brantley, chief engineer, was the first to speak.

"We have just had a meeting of department heads," he said. "We have expressed our desire to render Mr. Patten full backing. All of the heads have agreed unanimously to carry out his policies."

Patten then outlined his future policies. They are twofold: (1) to restore harmony between the highway and executive departments, and (2) to give the people of Georgia 100 cents in roads for every dollar expended.

That was all. The newspapermen filed out. In the hall the photographers still waited for Miller to emerge from Gillis' office.

Finally the door opened and Miller came out. He was met by a

Road Chief's Commission Safe for Night

The official commission making L. L. Patten Governor Rivers' choice for the chairmanship of the State Highway Board was removed from the chairman's office "for safekeeping" last night by House Clerk John Greer.

When he left the highway building Patten carefully locked his office after his first day on duty. A few minutes later Greer returned to the office and emerged with the commission under his arm in a cardboard mailing tube.

NEW OFFICE TAKEN BY DEFIANT MILLER

fused him entrance to his old office, occupied very early in the morning by Patten.

The "chairman-eject" sought to gain admission to his old office, asking the guards if they hadn't seen in the papers where he had obtained the temporary injunction. The guards promptly told him that they didn't recognize the legality of newspaper articles.

The "chairman-select" issued orders firing Clem E. Wright, assistant highway engineer, and Watchman L. H. Neibeling, both of whom aided Miller in resisting ejection Saturday night. Neither Wright nor the watchman sought to fight during the day, but on the other hand, neither called upon Secretary-Treasurer Sam J. Boykin for their pay.

Miller, meanwhile, admitted there appeared to be a "joker" in Governor Rivers' reshuffling of board members' terms, a prominent feature of the ouster proceedings, and said "there is something to the ouster if it is to fight the ouster in court, but action eventually will be against his friend, Commissioner Jim L. Gillis, of Soperton, and must be tried before a jury in Gillis' home county of Treutlen, where Gillis is just about as strong politically as anyone in Georgia."

Rivers appointed Patten to a six-year term where there was a vacancy. In fact, he succeeded Commissioner Herman H. Watson, of Dallas. Gillis was given Miller's term in turn went to Watson.

Might Hesitate.

In some quarters it was believed that Miller might hesitate to sue Gillis, because of his friendship for his former colleague and because the issues of fact must be tried before a jury in Gillis' home county.

Gillis is with Governor Rivers in Miami attending a meeting of the southeastern regional planning board and it could not be learned if he knew that the shuffling of the terms made him the actual holder of the board membership from which Miller was ousted.

Capitol observers maintained that if Miller ever is restored to a place on the board by the courts, he must supplant Gillis, while Gillis has formally resigned his own place and therefore would have no place if not sustained by the courts.

Although there was no announcement from Attorney General Ellis Arnall, it was definitely understood yesterday at the capitol that all persons figuring in litigation growing out of Miller's ouster would have to obtain private counsel to defend them. It was reported that Patten was making arrangements to respond to Miller's injunction plea but that the law department would not enter into the controversy.

In the litigation faced by Chief Justice Charles S. Reid, of the supreme court, and Attorney General Arnall, decided yesterday in Reid's and Arnall's favor, both Reid and Arnall obtained their own private counsel. Of course, should the Governor become involved in any litigation, the law department would have to defend him but under the constitution the Governor cannot be enjoined nor can he be made the defendant in a mandamus action.

PETITION DOESN'T SURPRISE RIVERS

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 4.—(P)—Governor Rivers, of Georgia, said today he was "not surprised" that W. L. Miller, ousted chairman of the Georgia State Highway Board, started injunction proceedings to stay in office "because it is an open secret that he hoped to use it as a highway to the governorship."

Rivers would not say if he expected to seek a third term for himself.

"The situation was simply this: The legislature adjourned without supplying sufficient money for education, health and some other necessary activities. In such a situation the budget law gives the governor certain authority in impounding highway funds and in curtailing expenditures of other departments."

In carrying out this governmental program, departments must co-operate. Every other department of the state government did co-operate but the highway chairman was loose and antagonistic. Not only did he lack in co-operation but he went so far as to launch a public attack on me for carrying out the policy I'm required to carry out under the law.

"All other departments co-operated. No further purges are expected."

BOND ISSUE VOTED BY COLLEGE PARK

Civic Center Approved Overwhelmingly; Looney Keener, Creel Elected.

College Park's $65,000 bond issue for civic improvements overwhelmingly was approved at a general election yesterday which saw one new city councilman elected and two incumbents returned to their posts.

With a total registration of 1,233, the vote was 1,004.

The vote on $35,000 of bonds for the purchase of the old Cox College property for development into a park and civic center was 984 for and 20 against. On the $30,000 for the construction of an auditorium on the property the vote was 963 for and 20 against.

In the council races, Harry H. Looney won over H. Q. Snow in the first ward by a vote of 379 to 91 to succeed W. D. Flowers who did not offer for re-election.

T. M. Keener, second ward incumbent, defeated L. M. Nolan by a vote of 172 to 154, and in the third ward T. O. Creel was re-elected without opposition.

EDWARDS ASKS RIVERS' OUSTER

Calls on General Assembly To Impeach Governor.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 4.—(P)—H. B. Edwards, Lowndes county representative and critic of the administration, today called on members of the Georgia general assembly to convene themselves and impeach Ed Rivers as Governor.

He said the assembly could act on:

"1. The unlawful use of school teachers' money and old age pension funds for the building of a new state capitol, which was unauthorized by any law or custom."

"2. Planning an attack upon a public official, W. L. Miller, chairman of the State Highway Department, and having his aides from the Governor's office assault and batter a state official, in violation of law."

HARRY L. BROWN LEAVES HIS POST FOR JOB WITH TVA

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Will Direct Test Demonstrations Division, Capital Says.

Harry L. Brown, whose resignation as assistant secretary of agriculture is effective today, will become chief of the division of test demonstrations and assistant director of the Department of Agricultural Relations for the Tennessee Valley Authority, it was announced yesterday from Washington.

President Roosevelt yesterday expressed regret upon accepting the resignation and said he was glad Brown was continuing in the federal service. Rumors of Brown's intended withdrawal from the Agricultural Department were first broadcast about the middle of November.

Brown told Mr. Roosevelt that "no duties I have ever had have been more pleasant than those in connection with my work with the Department of Agriculture." He added that the Agriculture Department, under the leadership of Secretary Wallace "has done the greatest service for American agriculture that has been done in the history of the country."

Writing Wallace, Brown said that "if at any time or in any way I can be of service to you I shall not only be ready but also willing to do my best."

A former director of the Agricultural Extension Service in Georgia, Brown became assistant secretary of agriculture January 1, 1937. RUTH ETTING'S 'EX- IS FREED FROM JAIL

'Moe the Gimp' Mumbles Tearful Thanks.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—(UP)—Colonel Martin (Moe the Gimp) Snyder, who has spent the last year in jail waiting his appeal from conviction for attempting to murder Myrl Alderman, his successor as the husband of Blues Singer Ruth Etting, was released tonight on his own recognizance, pending outcome of his appeal.

Judge Ambrose, who pronounced sentence not to exceed 20 years in San Quentin prison, admonished Snyder to keep within the jurisdiction of the court. Tears in his eyes, "The Gimp" threw his arms around his attorney, mumbling, "Oh, thank you, thank you."

Snyder then hobbled to Deputy District Attorney Eugene U. Black, whose prosecution convicted him, and shook his hand.

"Gee, you've been swell—thank you, thank you," Snyder gasped.

MRS. SAYLOR PLANS NEW AUCTION SALE

Farm Equipment Will Be Offered To Save Barnsley Gardens.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. ADAIRSVILLE, Ga., Dec. 4.—Threatened sale of Barnsley Gardens, ancestral home of the Barnsley family, near here, will again be deferred, if present plans of the owner, Mrs. Addie B. Saylor, are carried out. The threatened sheriff's sale of the Barnsley property was postponed last February until November when Mrs. Saylor sold priceless heirlooms to take care of demands by creditors.

To forestall further the sale of the property, an auction sale will be held at 10 o'clock, December 15, at the home of farm tools, stock, and miscellaneous farm machinery. Among the items listed for sale are seven mules, all farming tools, including plow stocks, cultivators, planter, mowing machine, tractor, plows, sawmill, gasoline engines, saws and wagons.

Mrs. Addie Taylor, 75, who with her daughter, of Chicago, and a son, Preston, are the sole surviving members of the once noted Barnsley family. For a reported price of $500, she sold priceless heirlooms last February to forestall the sale of the property. Included in the sale were a clock, once owned by Marie Antoinette, taken from the Tuilleries during the French revolution; hand carved mahogany table with inlaid marble top imported from Italy and other valuable family possessions. Although the property was purchased, according to the announcement, Mrs. Saylor was allowed to keep the valuables by the purchaser, C. M. Shaw, of Adairsville, and since that time has repurchased most of it.

Following the postponement of foreclosure, Mrs. Saylor rented the property, hoping to pay her indebtedness before November, when further claims were due on the property. Finding that she would be unable to pay off the indebtedness, Mrs. Saylor has planned the auction sale to raise enough money to keep the property from again being offered for sale. She hopes to be able to pay off the indebtedness later from rentals on the lands and property.

Wu Pei-Fu, Chinese Poet-Soldier, Dies

PEIPING, Dec. 4.—(P)—Marshal Wu Pei-Fu, 61, poet-soldier of Republican China, died today following an operation for an infected tooth, the Japanese News Agency, Domei, reported.

Wu had lived in obscurity since his armies were routed by Chiang Kai-shek, now Generalissimo of the Nationalist government, in 1926. The Japanese had tried vainly to enlist his aid.

Atlantans Start Responding To Big Brothers' Campaign

'Sidewalk Snoopers' First Broadcast Seeking Yule Baskets for Needy Brings Several Telephone Pledges; Appeal Sponsored by Constitution, Legion and WGST.

WGST's "Sidewalk Snoopers," John Fulton and Frank Gaither, launched the first of a series of daily radio programs last night on behalf of The Constitution's annual "Big Brothers" charity drive to bring Christmas cheer to needy Atlanta families.

Complete informality marked the 15-minute broadcast which was intended to inform the public just what the Big Brothers hope to accomplish this year and just how contributions may be made. Several were received by telephone before the sign-off point was reached.

Mrs. Maude Baker, secretary of the organization, explained that the drive this year is being sponsored by the Fifth District of the American Legion, The Constitution, and Station WGST and that its principal object is the distribution of Christmas baskets containing food for entire families and toys for children under 12.

A. L. Belle Isle, general chairman of the campaign, introduced George W. West, chairman of the

"the biggest success on record" for the 1939 drive.

Here's how the public can help: Contributions of any amount may be sent to The Constitution or to Station WGST. These may be in the form of outright donations or orders for "Big Brother" edition of The Constitution to be issued December 17. Its price will be from 10 cents up and the sky's the limit.

Every dime received will be spent on the Christmas baskets, each of which will help to provide a "Merry Christmas" for some underprivileged family which otherwise would be overlooked at the holiday season. The baskets cost $3 each, wholesale, and when presented will contain food and toys with a retail value of exactly twice that amount.

All requests for help from the Big Brothers organization are cleared through a central agency to eliminate duplication and to be sure that every family receiving a basket really is in need of help. Tonight's 15-minute program begins at 6 o'clock and the public is invited to listen in either at their own radio loudspeaker or by going to the studios of WGST.

The "Snoopers" last night offered to let any contributor take part in the broadcast and promised that all contributions will be acknowledged.

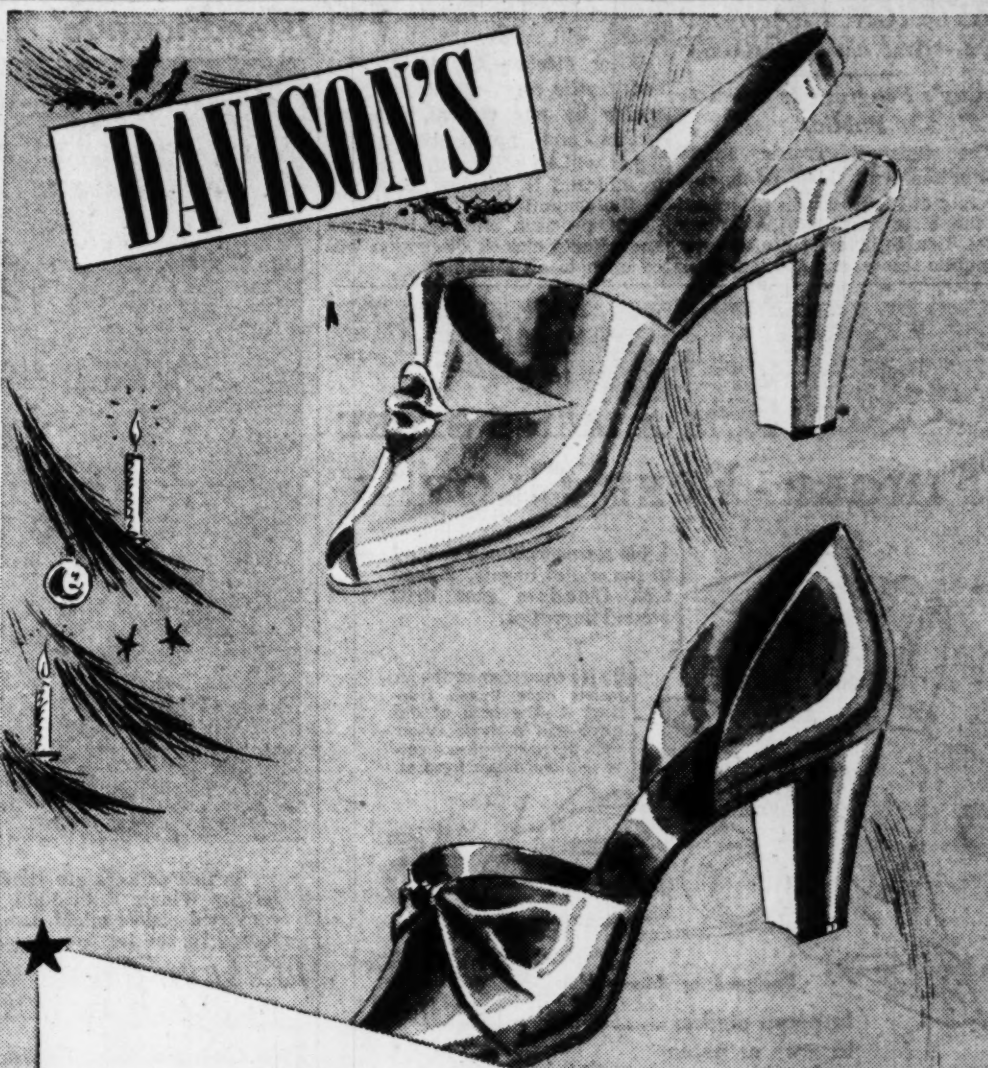

Mac Wooten's WGST staff orchestra contributed the music for last night's program and will be heard again on subsequent broadcasts.

The nightly program times for the next few days are as follows: Tomorrow, 10:30 to 11; Thursday, 6 to 6:15; Friday, 11:15 to 11:30; Saturday, 6:30 to 7, and Sunday, 10 to 10:30.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 4.—(P)—A week-end fishing party ended in disaster for three young Savannah men, it was revealed today when bodies of two, identified as Olin Sanders, 25, and Ralph Richards, 25, washed ashore this morning. Search continued for the third man, Jasper Hood, 29, with an airplane pilot helping in the hunt. About 200 yards off shore the open boat was found, its motor still in place.

Bloodhounds' Noses Baffled by Ruth Judd's Trail

Baffled officers are shown above with the bloodhounds which were unable to follow the trail left by Winnie Ruth Judd, mad fugitive from an Arizona hospital for the insane. Fears that the convicted slayer might commit suicide rather than be taken back to the hospital were voiced yesterday by the fugitive's mother.

RESERVE OFFICERS
CALLED TO DUTY*Two Georgia Men To Serve for Six Months.

Two Georgia ordnance reserve officers have been called up for six months' active duty. Fourth corps area headquarters announced yesterday. They are First Lieutenant Willis Olin McDaniel, of Newnan, and First Lieutenant Ralph David McConigly, of Sparta. Both will revert to inactive status June 30.

McConigly will serve with the 17th Ordnance company at Fort Benning, while McDaniel will be attached to the 79th Ordnance company at the Augusta Arsenal. Corps area headquarters also reported that First Lieutenant James Wadsworth Furlow, of Americus, now on duty with the air corps at Durant Field, San Antonio, would return to his reserve status on January 3.

Bloodhounds Are Useless as Fear Of Suicide Spurs Ruth Judd Hunt*Mother Afraid Fugitive Might End Life Rather Than Return to Hospital; Officers Frustrated Despite Dogs Put on Mad Woman's Trail.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 4.—(P)—Fears that Winnie Ruth Judd might commit suicide to free herself of fancied persecution spurred the search tonight for the frail, mad murderess at large a second time from the state hospital for the insane.

Mrs. Judd, who fled a ward of the asylum last night, left a trail as bright as day, but officers even with the aid of bloodhounds remained frustrated.

The thought of suicide—threatened by the mad killer when she was at large six weeks ago—was injected by her mother, Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, who expressed fear her daughter might end her life rather than return to the hospital to which she was committed in 1933, two years after murdering two women friends.

Sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen and state officials admitted themselves baffled. Several times they crossed the ingenious fugitive's trail, only to lose it.

Of these factors they were reasonably sure: Mrs. Judd slipped out of a door to the hospital ward early last night in much the same manner she escaped October 24.

She probably had "inside help." That opinion of Governor Bob Jones was substantiated by Mrs. Judd's parents, who said on several occasions people "offered her keys if she wanted to run away."

(Governor Jones charged tonight that Mrs. Judd had been "deliberately agitated" into running away, according to the United Press.)

(He said lack of funds prevented employment of guards to keep a constant watch on Mrs. Judd.)

("We believe she was deliberately agitated to embarrass the administration," Jones said.)

The fugitive broke into the home of a friend, the Rev. Robert A. Warren, shortly after escaping. She left notes to the minister and Governor Jones, and took two coats, some oranges and a box of crackers.

RAMSPECK SPEAKS
ON CIVIL SERVICE*Congressman Honor Guest at Dinner Given by U. S.
Employees.

Congressman Robert Ramspeck was honor guest and principal speaker at a dinner at the Ansley hotel given last night by the Atlanta local of the National Federation of Federal Employees.

Henry Nab, of the War Department, acted as toastmaster, and the congressman was introduced by John M. Slaton Jr., Atlanta, head of the veterans' administration. Vaux Owen, of the administration office, also spoke.

Talking on the general subject of civil service, Ramspeck outlined in detail the provisions of his house resolution which seeks the extension of the merit system for federal employees. It is scheduled to come up for a vote in January, he said.

REV. R. W. SCOTT
HEADS MINISTERS*Dr. W. V. Gardner Elected
President of Christian Council for Next Year.

The Rev. R. Wiley Scott, pastor of the Central Congregational church, was elected president of the Evangelical Ministers' Association, and Dr. William V. Gardner, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was named president of the Christian Council as both religious groups yesterday named officers for 1940.

Other officers of the Evangelical Ministers' Association are the Rev. Solomon F. Dowis, pastor of the Virginia Avenue Baptist church, and the Rev. Eugene C. Few, pastor of the Druid Hills Methodist church, vice presidents, and James Morton, secretary-treasurer. President Scott succeeds Dr. John L. Yost, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

Named to the Christian Council were Dr. Edward G. Mackay, pastor of the First Methodist church, and the Rev. R. Wiley Scott, vice presidents, and James Morton, secretary-treasurer. Dr. C. R. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church, is the outgoing president.

The Evangelical Ministers' Association is an organization of ministers of all denominations, while the Christian Council is composed of ministers and laymen.

FURLOUGHED WPA
WORKERS SEEK AID*50 Go to Headquarters But
Are Told Future Is Indefinite.

Approximately 50 furloughed WPA workers assembled yesterday morning in the Atlanta area office, and later in the state office of the Works Progress Administration in an effort to determine when they would be reassigned to jobs.

Members of the crowd explained they had been laid off under the provision that automatically drops WPA employees after 18 months of continuous service; had been re-certified, but had not yet been given work.

The assembly was orderly. Leaders of the workers were received in the Atlanta area office by Walter Mullin, area employment officer, who told them the area quota was filled and there were no vacancies on the rolls.

Mullin said he regretted he could give them no assurance, "individually or collectively," that they would be assigned jobs in the near future.

William Scherffius, director of the state employment division, talked with the group later, explaining that the state offices were purely administrative, and could give no guarantee that the workers would be immediately placed on the rolls.

Scherffius added that there are approximately 5,000 in the state who have been certified as eligible for relief, but can be given no work because of an already full quota.

MILK DISPENSERS UNDER TRUST LAW, HIGH COURT RULES

Unanimous Decision Permits U. S. To Prosecute Charges of Violation of the Sherman Act.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The supreme court gave the government a "go ahead" signal today for its prosecution of Chicago milk dealers on a charge of violating the 1890 Sherman anti-trust act.

In a unanimous decision delivered by Chief Justice Hughes, the tribunal reversed a federal district court ruling that the Sherman act no longer applied to the defendants because Congress had placed control of the marketing of farm products with the Secretary of Agriculture.

The court did not pass on a contention that labor unions are exempt from Sherman act prosecutions. The chief justice said the question was not before the court. Under the decision, the justice department can proceed with its case against 57 corporations, organizations and individuals charged with conspiracy to fix milk prices, control the supply and suppress competition.

The labor organization involved—the Milk Wagon Drivers Union—might seek a new ruling from the federal district court in Chicago as to whether it is subject to the act. The other defendants also might move for dismissal of the indictments on other grounds.

NEEDY TO GET FOOD INSTEAD OF CHECKS

DeKalb Officials Will Buy Surplus Commodities for 250 on Relief.

To alleviate an acute DeKalb county relief problem, Commissioner Scott Candler, yesterday announced that the county would work with the Surplus Commodities Commission in granting food orders to 250 persons dependent upon DeKalb aid.

"Instead of issuing checks," he said, "we are going to give monthly food orders which can be filled at the commission warehouse at 920 Sycamore street."

In the past the monthly burden on the county, it was pointed out, amounted to $1,500. With but $800 to last the welfare office through March, Candler decided to invest it in food supplies which will supplement the commodities commission's stock.

Jailed Solons See the Light, Vote as Asked

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Eleven aldermen, who whittled away three and a half hours in the county jail, won their release this afternoon by quickly voting an ordinance which their previous failure to pass had cost them 10-day sentences for contempt of court.

Circuit Judge Lawrence Auten suspended the sentences "until further orders of the court" when the rueful councilmen sent him word they were ready to pass an ordinance levying a tax to pay a judgment against a municipal improvement district.

Released from custody, a hurried council session was called and the ordinance approved unanimously by the 18 aldermen in two minutes' time.

ATOM SMASHER USED IN FIGHT ON CANCER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A gigantic atom-smashing machine at the University of California is the latest weapon being used in man's fight against cancer. The public health service disclosed today that neutron rays produced by the 225-ton cyclotron of Dr. Ernest Orlando Lawrence were being used to treat cancer sufferers.

Officials expressed hope that these rays "may break down the wild, self-reproducing cancer cells and effect, at least temporarily, some definite remission of disease progress."

The machine produces "synthetic radium" for use in cancer treatment.

Racial Distinction

The senior and young people's departments of St. Mark Methodist church, in the report on Youth Crusade Week, placed their finger upon the most perplexing economic problem in the south of today when they said the negro suffers because of racial discrimination.

In considering this report, however, there is one vital fact which should always be kept in mind. The Youth Crusade report is dealing with racial discrimination, not racial distinction; they are two totally separate things.

Racial distinction is proper, desirable and recognized both in federal and states' laws. It provides for that demarcation between the races which must exist if the two are to live amicably in the same communities. Racial distinction provides there shall be no intermingling of the blood of the two races and recognizes the propriety of social separateness, such as separate schools and separate railroad coaches.

The late President Harding expressed the ideal of racial distinction when he said "the two races should have the same rights, but need not enjoy them in each other's company."

Present day practical considerations render that ideal, however, merely something to be hoped for, some day.

The conditions against which the Youth Crusade protests, however, come under the heading of racial discrimination, which is altogether a different thing. The injustice of racial discrimination rebounds against the white citizens just as seriously, if not more so, than against the negroes themselves.

It is racial discrimination which results in wretched and insanitary housing conditions for so many negroes. It is racial discrimination which denies the negro child educational opportunity even approximating that of the white child. It is racial discrimination which, in too many instances, results in the negro defendant, in court, being considered guilty until he proves his innocence, whereas the white defendant is considered innocent until proven guilty. It is racial discrimination that brings the negro, guilty of misdemeanor, six months on the chaingang, whereas, the white man, equally guilty, receives a nominal fine and a judicial reprimand.

It is these, and other conditions of similar stripe, that bring to the doors of the white south such undesirable offspring as disease, widespread crime and the worst homicide record of the civilized world. It is such conditions that keep the negro, in large degree, a heavy social and economic burden upon the shoulders of the south. It is for such conditions that the Youth Crusade report of St. Mark church asks and seeks a remedy.

The true south will, rightfully, always insist upon proper and adequate racial distinction, but that same true south, with its inherent understanding of the negro and its proverbial love of fair play and justice, will be the first to seek an end to racial discrimination.

A Workable Plan

Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, director of the State Department of Public Health, suggests that the schools of Georgia should carry out a program of prevention and control of contagious diseases by adopting special programs in co-operation with county boards of health.

That this is a sound and workable plan is noted in the fact that in each county the superintendent of schools is a member of the Board of Health. The schools can develop programs for assuming responsibility for contagious disease control measures and should do so.

This can be done, as Dr. Abercrombie points out, by four major procedures, which are simple and not difficult to execute. They are notification to the Board of Health of suspected cases of contagious disease; isolation as soon as possible of students who seem ill in any way; encouragement to parents to keep ailing children at home and thus away from other youngsters; and stimulation of parents' interests in vaccination and diphtheria immunization.

Here is a non-technical plan worthy of serious consideration by all to whom the idea was recommended.

In the picturesque Russian version of this Finnish trouble, it is the innocent wolf who cries, "Why, Red Riding Hood, what long teeth you have!"

"The Lice of Lies"

Dorothy Thompson, in her column, "On the Record," recently said "a plague like typhus is being spread throughout the world, and its carriers are the lice of lies."

The plague to which she referred is the glorification of ruthless force and the apparent growth in dominance of the totalitarian form of government. The "lice of lies" refers to the conscienceless use of barefaced falsehood, as propaganda to prepare the way for the destruction of helpless small nations.

Even in the United States there is no immunity from this plague, or from the lice that spread it. Following that mammoth crime against human decency, the Russian rape of Finland, The Daily Worker, organ of the Communist party in the United States, appeared with this streamer headline upon its front page: "Red Army Hurls Back Invading Finnish Troops."

And the little lice of lies, the termites of unreason, bite, bite, bite into the minds of Americans, gradually making insanity appear sane, unreason appear wisdom and falsehood masquerade in the guise of truth.

The surprise bombing of helpless women and children in Helsinki and other Finnish cities makes decent men see blindly, as through a haze of red, makes civilized hearts turn sick with horror.

Yet this is not the greatest crime perpetrated by the Russians. Their greater evil lies in the brazen distortion of the truth, an attack on the foundations of human civilization. They have defiled and debased the sanctity of the given word, just as did Hitler about Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland. And just as Hitler would do again if the Allies gave credence to his present maudlin talk of peace.

Earl Browder still spouts about Russia's "peace mission," and The Daily Worker asserts the Finnish sacrifice is part of a deep-dyed plot of President Roosevelt's to make "imperialist" war against Russia!

The world will never know security until the nations and their leaders, once again, mean peace, when they say peace, instead of meaning unwarranted attack by 165,000,000 against less than 4,000,000; when resistance means self-defense, instead of meaning "aggression;" when the refusal of a small nation to surrender her independence because a gun is pointed at her heart is just that, instead of "provocation."

The most dangerous spawning of the Stalin-Hitler breed is this plague of unreason, spread so insidiously by the "lice of lies." It is an attempt to destroy that word, of which St. John said "...and the word was with God, and the word was God."

What of These?

Jay Allen, in the "Survey Graphic," tells about the new forgotten man as he vividly portrays the plight of the Spanish refugee.

There are 300,000 Spaniards, victims of war, in France alone. They are the men, women and children who fled from the armies of General Francisco Franco. Many are in sordid concentration camps, existing without adequate food or shelter.

Allen points out that many of these represent the culture and science of Spain. There are 2,063 school teachers; 2,440 printers; 2,809 electricians; 5,922 skilled workers in wood; 10,272 mechanics and 17,000 builders and masons.

What is to become of these exiles from Spain, is the question raised by Allen, as he stresses that these human beings have a claim on the conscience of mankind. None can deny that efforts should be made to find new opportunities and occupations for, not only these refugees, but the victims of Nazi and Communist terror also.

With the resurrection of the Spanish republic not on the "peace program" of the Allies, the outlook for these unfortunates is far from cheering. Here is a problem that is as real as rain. A man stumbles and falls in a city street. A stranger rushes forward to help him regain his feet.

It is the impulse to aid his fellows that raises man above the beasts.

As ersatz food becomes more and more the rule, no doubt the cardboard pie-plate will gradually supersede the Nazi lower crust.

For the sixth time, a Nova Scotian lad has run away from home and shipped aboard a schooner—a typical case of no sails resistance.

With 20 to 30 ships going to the bottom weekly, the North sea would eventually be worth millions just for the mineral rights.

Bed is the safest place in an earthquake, says one who knows. A quake at high noon would be irksome, except for the night shift and actors.

As no snow cruisers were made up for the general trade, we shall just have to barge up to the gift counter under our own power.

Editorial of the Day

THE RAPE OF FINLAND

(From the Chattanooga Times) The shock to world opinion created by the Russian invasion of Finland is more profound than would be caused by any act of the German government, for Russia has until now successfully exploited the hypocritical contention that she is a peace-loving nation. Those who contended that the Soviet-German pact meant that Stalin had merely encircled Germany on his own terms must realize now that the Soviet regime is as ruthlessly imperialistic as the Nazi. Not one of the Scandinavian countries is safe; indeed, it is already reported that Moscow has demanded of Norway possession of three ports.

THE CAPITAL PARADE FAIR ENOUGH

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

ENVOY'S WIFE DISSATISFIED WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 4.—Joseph E. Davies, the United States' sleek little ambassador to Belgium, is sailing home to rejoin his sumptuous bride, Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton-Close Davies, and to see what he can get. As Joe Davies has a gift for bringing home the bacon, he may be expected to get something or other. It may not be precisely what he wants, but it will be the next best. Davies is on a getting expedition for a rather simple reason. Mrs. Davies, whose ample breakfast food fortune has been the source of such gratifying largesse to the Democratic national committee, did not much like Moscow, where she and her husband began their diplomatic careers. Accordingly, the Davies menage was transferred to Brussels. 'Mrs. Davies did not much like Brussels, either, for the Belgian capital is rather small, decidedly stiff and far from hospitable to the grandiose. The Davies family likes to do things in a big way, and somehow opportunistic; for doing things in a big way were almost as rare in Brussels as in Moscow.

Better times are ahead for the Davieses, however, for Joe Davies is returning to Washington with a tentative promise from the President cheerily warming his pocket. The promise is for the secretaryship of the navy, and there are men close to the President, both inside the White House and out, who would like to see Joe have the job. At present, it is true, it is doubtful whether the promise will be redeemed at its face, for there is also strong opposition to moving the Davies family into the Navy Department. But if Joe does not find his niche at navy, something else will surely be given him as a consolation prize. A handsome and ornamental position at the State Department is being murmured about.

GENUS, FAT CAT

Joe Davies deserves whatever is coming to him, if only because he is quite the most striking specimen of the great political genus, fat cat, since the late Alexander Moore. Moore, who was ambassador to Spain, is still celebrated for his remark to the Queen, "Queen, you said a mouthful." But where Moore was a bluff, blustering, irrepressibly over-troverted fellow, his successor as the leading fat cat of the age is natty, insinuating, and so free with polite compliment that an acid female Washingtonian once said, "Talking to Joe Davies always makes me feel I've been living on cake-icing for a week."

Joe came, long ago, from Wisconsin, where he was a successful lawyer and leading Democrat. His labors as a leading Democrat were rewarded by Woodrow Wilson with a place on the Federal Trade Commission. That brought Joe to Washington, and in Washington he stayed. After the Wilson administration, he became one of those lawyers who exist in a sort of half-world, with one foot in the courts and the other (and more profitable) in the lobbies of the governmental great.

Having prospered at this highly specialized trade, and having become a leading Democrat again in 1932, Joe was already something of a figure when he formed a union with the present Mrs. Davies. At about the same time, there occurred what might be described as Joe's apotheosis. Joe's contribution to the party, both nationally and to the funds of several senators running in 1936, were extremely munificent. His apotheosis was amply earned.

BRIGHT PROSPECT

London or Paris was the goal of Joe's ambition, but he is not a man to sulk or cry for the moon. When he got Moscow, he made the best of it. The State Department still remembers his swearing in as ambassador. This ceremony is usually perfunctorily performed in the presence of a minor State Department clerk, but Joe never misses an opportunity. He held an impressive fete, invited the newsmen, and gave the function its fitting climax by embracing Mrs. Davies for the benefit of a future national audience. Since that day, Joe has been continuously making the best of what he had, and working to get a little more. Such industry cries out for a reward.

If the reward is duly forthcoming, Washington may expect to be overwhelmed by the Davies family. The same ingenuity which guarded against starvation on the Russian steppe by sending cargoes of frozen food to Moscow will be applied to pleasing and astonishing a receptive city. Joe's politeness, Mrs. Davies' diamonds, the yacht on the Potomac—the prospect is almost too glittering to look squarely in the eye.

Of course, the cartoonist makes quite a concession to realism when he shows Tracy somewhat fatigued after this stunt, and the subsequent hand-over-hand haul, up the rope and out of the well to safety.

But I here and now contend that both Tarzan and Tracy had abandoned the field of pure, melodramatic adventure and, by these two stunts alone, have returned to broad comedy, though probably without realizing it.

Last Day, Today.

The Decatur Council of P.-T. A., as part of an objective to familiarize young people and children with good literature and good theater, is presenting on January 25 a new version, holding closely to the Washington Irving story, and especially to the character of the hero, of "Rip Van Winkle." Presented by the Clare Tree Major players in the new Decatur municipal auditorium, it is the first of a series of three plays by the same company to be given there. The other two are "Under the Lilacs" on February 29 and "Aladdin" on April 4.

The reason for mentioning this Decatur undertaking this morning is that today is the final day of the advance season ticket sale. While individual performance tickets are far from costly, there is quite a saving by purchasing season tickets. You can get season tickets from Mrs. Elbert Akim at Dearborn 3195. Today, only.

And Fifty Years Ago.

From the news columns of Thursday, December 5, 1889: "Old Limerick is out on the town again. Yesterday he was released from the jail, and, being 'lection day, he stayed sober all day long, to the surprise of his many acquaintances."

GEORGIA POLITICS

I recall once, in Minneapolis, going into a Chinese shop with the late Blinky Horn, of the Nashville Tennessean. We were looking at ivory cigarette holders for a gift. A charming young Chinese girl waited on us. She selected a very pretty holder and said:

"Thees is most magneificent. Him you cannot get anywhere else."

"Tut! Tut!" said Mr. Horn. "Remember what Bret Harte said," warned Mr. Horn.

"What did he say?" asked the charming young Chinese.

"He said," said Mr. Horn, "that 'for ways that were dark and tricks that are vain, the heathen Chinese is peculiar.'"

"I es not so," said the young charmer, stamping her charming foot. "You breeng thees man here and I tell heem to hees face ees not so."

I have no idea at all why this story came to mind except that Georgians were privileged to see last Saturday some of the cleverest bit of political manipulating our state has seen in some time.

There must have been a plan to get Mr. Lint Miller to go out of his office for a time on Saturday morning to permit its occurrence. Just why this failed I do not know, but the fact remains the highway chairman was on the receiving end of some fast manipulations.

The spectacle of a state official physically being removed by husky guards is not a pleasant nor reassuring one. It is indicative of the chaos which exists in government because of finances. Mr. Eugene Talmadge encountered the same condition and met it with force. The time will come when neither guards nor the military can solve the problems. That is another story.

Mr. Miller can reflect that he was the victim of a maneuver which will have the boys talking for some years to come.

NO LEGAL LOOPHOLE

If Mr. Miller wishes to say that Mr. Bret Harte's Chinese was no more skilled than his opponent, he probably would not be far wrong. The best legal minds yesterday were saying the Governor apparently had left no legal loophole.

He threw a fast one which, as the baseball reporters would say, had plenty of wrinkles in it.

With no intent of going into the merits of the case, the steps seem to have been these:

Mr. Herman Watson's term as a member of the board was expired.

Mr. Lawson L. Patten was appointed to Watson's place on the board.

Mr. Jim Gillis then resigned. This was accepted.

Mr. Watson was then appointed to Mr. Gillis' place.

Mr. Gillis was then appointed to Mr. Miller's place.

It now appears that Mr. Miller, if he sues at all, must sue Mr. Gillis in Mr. Gillis' home county and the case must be heard before a jury.

The Highway Board elects its chairman.

If Mr. Miller wins the Governor still will have a majority of two to one on the board.

It is possible Mr. Gillis was not at all aware of all the possibilities. To say there is a definite rapprochement between Mr. Gillis and the Governor is to guess. It does not necessarily follow at all. Even though, one must admit, that is the obvious interpretation.

"There is more to this than meets the eye, Horatio."

QUITE CALM ON THE FRONT

Mr. Miller is an honest and sincere gentleman and there was, of course, much indignation among his friends at his removal. The pictures showing the guards taking him out did not hurt his cause.

Nevertheless, it is interesting to those interested in government, that yesterday passed as an extremely calm one in so far as members of the legislature were concerned.

From Valdosta was heard the bellow of Mr. "Hell Bent" Edwards demanding the legislature meet and impeach Mr. Rivers.

Mr. "Hell Bent" Edwards has asked this often in the past.

A careful listener to the voices over the state, however, disclosed the fact that Mr. Edwards was a lone voice crying in the wilderness. Here and there may have been a few willing to go along with him.

It was significant, however, none of the leaders joined in the demand for the legislature.

The legislature can meet any time it chooses. It can at its will, meet and legislate to remedy the present situation of the schools. It can, if it wills, meet and survey the actions of the Governor.

There is a report an effort will be made to have a session in January.

Meanwhile, while there was some indignation, the cold fact remains that politics is politics, just as pigs is pigs. The legislators may think Mr. Miller disgracefully treated. They may storm about it. But as yet none has dropped the paddle to his own canoe.

The Valdosta aria is coming in strong.

The chorus is missing.

Those Who Close Their Eyes

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Bill Jones was annoyed and troubled by the behavior of his friend, Jack Smithers, and his annoyance was multiplied by Jack's cool indifference to his protests.

Under such circumstances, when the world displeases us and there is nothing we can do about it, our first impulse is to find a sympathetic audience to listen to our grievance.

Bill invaded the office of another friend, a psychiatrist named Snow.

"Hello, Bill," said the doctor; "what's on your mind?"

"Plenty," growled Bill; "Jack is running out on us—trying to get away from the world. Do you know what that guy is doing?"

"Let's have it," said the doctor.

"Well," said Bill, "he's turned yellow. All of this war stuff in the papers and on the radio has got his goat. He says he's heard nothing for months except war and international affairs and politics and national problems, and he's fed up. He says he's sick and tired of thinking."

"That's understandable," said the doctor. "I get that way myself sometimes."

"Yeah," said Bill, "but you don't run away. Jack is filling his car with canned stuff and guns and fishin' tackle, and he's going to that cabin of his 40 miles the other side of nowhere and hole up like a hermit till the world gets sane again."

"Boloney!" said Bill. "You can't do a thing like that. We are free men and citizens of the world. We have duties. A man can't run away from his obligations. Tryin' to escape reality is childish and yellow. We've got to face things, doc. Hidin' from things is silly."

"All right, Bill," said the doctor. "Have it your way. But calm down and save your blood pressure. Here's a new magazine you might enjoy." He grinned and tossed the magazine across the table.

"No like?" asked the doctor.

"Same old stuff," said Bill. "War and politics and isms and social problems. I want to read something trashy and exciting that will help me forget all that stuff."

JONESBORO SPLIT INTO TWO CAMPS BY INDICTMENTS

State Opens Trials Today
Charging Five County Commissioners With Malpractice in Office.

Split into two camps by the indictment of five Clayton county commissioners, usually quite Jonesboro will bustle into its courthouse at 9 o'clock this morning to hear the opening of the state's cases against H. Grady Moore, F. C. Cargile, W. S. Lee, E. L. Stephens and Dr. J. R. Wallis.

Called to trial just seven days after the grand jury indicted the five commissioners on five counts charging malpractice in office, the group will take up most of the morning striking a jury and then hear Solicitor Roy Leathers, of the Stone Mountain superior court circuit, bring charges.

Charges are Listed.

Three counts allege illegal letting of supply contracts without public bid, one alleges levying sheriff and county police salaries without the required tax levy, and one granting the sheriff a commission on tax fl. fas. his office collected.

Each count carries a misdemeanor penalty with a maximum sentence of one year in prison camp, six months in jail and a fine of $1,000.

Court Session Extended.

To bring the commissioners to trial this term of the Clayton superior court, it became necessary last week for Judge James C. Davis to extend the session one week and postpone a DeKalb county court and grand jury until December 11.

Leathers said last night each commissioner would be called and tried separately, although the indictments against each list identical counts.

The November grand jury, bent on continuing a Clayton county house-cleaning begun last year, in returning the indictments also recommended that a one-man commission form of government be instituted through legislative action.

THE CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

Atlanta's annual Christmas pageant, the Divine Promise, will be given this year on Sunday afternoon, December 17, 2:30 o'clock, in the municipal auditorium, directed by Eugene J. Bergmann, whose work as director of the pageant last year at Christmas and later at Easter and then during the Baptist World Alliance has identified him in the thought of everyone as a most capable director. Planned as a community event, the pageant will make its appeal to everyone. There will be no admission charge.

It was estimated that 2,000 people were turned away at the Sunday afternoon performance last year, indicating the wide interest which the pageant created. It will be remembered that the pageant during the Baptist World Alliance recorded the peak attendance of the entire congress, with 57,000 people admitted and 15,000 turned away. All of which proves that pageantry remains one of the great media of presenting the established traditions of religion, as well as other subjects.

There will be 20 instead of 21 episodes in this year's Christmas pageant. This will insure holding the performance within two hours, and the one episode eliminated, which is Caesar's Decree, will be covered in the readings. The Divine Promise opens with Creation, followed by God's Promise to Abraham, the Separation of Abraham and Lot, Lot's Departure from Sodom, Abraham's Sacrifice of Isaac, Jacob's Ladder, Joseph's Interpretation of Pharaoh's Dream, Joseph and His Brothers, Moses Found by Pharaoh's Daughter, Moses and the Burning Bush, Moses Crossing the Red Sea, God Giving Moses the Ten Commandments, Ruth and Naomi, Ruth and Boaz, David Recovering the Ark, the Prophecies, the Annunciation, the Road to Bethlehem, the Inn in Bethlehem, the Angels Visit to the Shepherds, Meeting of the Wise Men, the Wise Men Visit Herod, and the Manger.

The rehearsals will begin Thursday evening of this week, with the final dress rehearsal on Tuesday evening, December 12. Hundreds of people from the churches and schools will compose the massive scenes in the pageant. Added features of lighting effects and costume will make the pageant even more brilliant and effective than last year. The music for the pageant is one of its greatest features.

People from neighboring communities came to Atlanta last year for the Christmas pageant, and we hope to welcome many such friends again this year. The pageant will again be broadcast over WAGA.

KING OF ENGLAND ARRIVES IN FRANCE

Monarch Disembarks From Destroyer To Inspect British Troops.

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IN FRANCE, Dec. 4.—(UP)—King George VI tonight arrived at the headquarters of Viscount Gort, commander-in-chief of the British Expeditionary Force, after landing at a channel port with great secrecy. The King, commander-in-chief of the British armed forces, crossed the channel on a British destroyer with his brother, Major General the Duke of Gloucester.

Despite the rough crossing, the King, an experienced sailor who served in the navy during the World War, remained on the bridge for two hours. Spray repeatedly swept over the warship, pelting his field marshal's service uniform.

The King came to France for a personal inspection of British troops.

The official party made its way through a group of French sailors standing with bayonet-fixed rifles. Overhead, airplanes swept low and as the King's car left the dockside, the French populace recognized the King and shouted "Vive le Roi" and waved handkerchiefs.

COUNCIL APPROVES COURT FOR TRAFFIC

the traffic court measure, attaches of the office of B. Graham West, city comptroller, announced that Atlantians paid an all-time record total of $47,540.50 into the city treasury in fines and costs assessed against them during the month of November. While traffic fines were not segregated from payments made for other offenses in the figures, it was asserted that the larger portion came from traffic cases.

A total of 8,437 arrests were made in Atlanta during November, of which 4,669 were traffic and 3,768 for other offenses.

Thus far this year a total of 85,920 arrests have been made, with 43,681 for traffic and 42,238 for other offenses.

In 1938 a total of 66,310 arrests were made with 29,853 charged with traffic law violations.

Fines Total $447,787.30.

Those convicted for the first 11 months of this year have paid a total of $447,787.30 in fines and costs, of which the Atlanta police pension fund gets 25 per cent. Although the total revenue from the traffic courts is nearing the $500,000 mark for the year, only $200,000 was anticipated from fines and $85,000 from court costs when the 1939 city budget was prepared. Already $346,744.75 has been collected in fines and court costs are listed at $101,042.55 for the first 11 months of the year, Councilman Howard Haire

Traffic Cases Surpass All Others in City

A month-by-month tabulation of traffic arrests as compared with arrests for other offenses thus far for 1939 follows:

January	3,240	3,360
February	3,081	3,339
March	3,449	3,501
April	3,797	3,515
May	4,632	4,338
June	3,801	3,709
July	3,436	3,954
August	4,285	4,205
September	5,048	4,382
October	4,343	4,197
November	4,669	3,768

launched the fight for a new division of the recorder's court to segregate traffic cases several weeks ago. Yesterday he praised Councilman Mac Bolen, chairman of council's police committee, for co-operating in creation of the separate division.

Protection to Ladies.

Those supporting the change contended that it would remove the necessity for ladies from cultured families to sit alongside "the dregs of the underworld to have their cases called."

Police Chief Hornsby is to convert the meeting room of the police committee for use of the traffic court. It was said yesterday that only one additional employee will be necessary to conduct the new division.

The ordinance will go to Mayor Hartsfield today for his signature. It was freely predicted he will sign it inasmuch as he presented the ordinance for consideration of the police committee, saying he was doing so at Bolen's request.

10 OPPORTUNITY FAMILIES APPEAR

family circle or to some of your friends. You've known many families that were smashed against the rocks, broken up and separated, when fate took a hand and steered their domestic ships astray.

In a few days, the stories of 10 such families will be told in The Constitution, which annually sponsors this Christmas campaign with the co-operation of the Family Welfare Society. It is the aim of the Ten Opportunity fund to provide a little money for needy mothers and fathers and their children while they fight against their difficulties to win independence and become self-supporting.

Every Cent Appreciated.

Won't you help this year? There's no donation too small, and, of course, none too big, to bring cheer to the lives of these now miserable mothers and fathers who are so ready to keep off the relief rolls and hold their families together.

Approximately 40 per cent of the families which were given a helping hand by the Ten Opportunities last year have proved their worthiness and have obtained work and become self-supporting in less than 11 short months. That record shows what a few "balance wheel" dollars can do toward rehabilitating otherwise helpless people.

Give something this year. Send it to H. H. Trotti, vice president and business manager of The Constitution. He will see that every cent is spent for the family you want to help.

REID AND ARNALL UPHELD BY RULING

perior court, consisting of Judges John D. Humphries, E. E. Fomero and Virlyn Moore, which held in favor of Reid in action brought by Monroe Stephens, Blue Ridge lawyer, who claimed he was elected chief justice in the general election last June.

The decision in the attorney general's case affirmed Judge Lee B. Wyatt, of the Coweta circuit, who had held in Arnall's favor in quo warranto proceedings brought by John Wood, Canton, also claiming office as result of the June 6 election.

Basis of Claims. Neither Reid nor Arnall had offered for re-election in the June balloting as they, and Governor Rivers, contended their terms did not expire until 1940. Stephens and Wood based their claim to the offices on votes cast for them in this election.

The decision in the attorney general's case written by Judge E. C. Gardner, real attorney, judicial circuit, who sat in place of the disqualified Chief Justice Reid, said the attorney general shall be elected by the people at the same time, for the same term and in the same manner as the Governor. This is the regular method of electing an attorney general and includes ascertainment and declaration of the result by the general assembly as provided by the constitution for the election of governor, the decision read.

The decision in Reid's case, written by Judge R. M. Hardeman, of the middle circuit who sat in his place, was based on similar reasoning. Both decisions pointed out that the law creating the odd-year general election failed to set up machinery for qualifying an attorney general, governor, or chief justice who might be elected, and that in omitting it, the legislature did not intend these offices to be filled at any time other than at the constitutionally specified even-year election.

DRIVER, 20, IS GIVEN 12-MONTH SENTENCE

Police Tell of Race To Catch Man and Two Companions.

The driver of an automobile which police said careened at 70 miles per hour along the new Macon highway, Saturday night, was sentenced to 12 months in a public works camp and indefinite suspension of his driver's license yesterday in the city court of Decatur.

He was listed as Thomas L. Osburn, 20, of 468 Luckie street, on police records. According to DeKalb County Police Chief J. T. Dailey and Officers H. G. Tuglie and Ben Hensler, Osburn zig-zagged wildly down the road while traveling 70 miles an hour, in an effort to elude police, and finally plowed 300 yards across a field.

With Osburn, who was charged with speeding and driving while intoxicated, were persons listed as A. W. Canada, 31, of 23 Logan street, and Miss Pearl Bates, 25, of 369 Bass street. Canada, whom police said drove part of the time and also was intoxicated, was fined $50 and had his license revoked for six months. Miss Bates, also intoxicated, according to police, was fined $25.

Chief Dailey said yesterday it was the "most aggravated case of its kind" in his experience. "At least 15 passing cars were forced from the road during the chase," he said. "Many others barely escaped the swerving automobile."

11 WPA WORKERS HURT DURING CAVE-IN

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Eleven workmen were injured today when a cave-in occurred in a pit on a WPA concrete mixing project on Detroit's East Side. One of the men, a negro, suffered serious injuries.

Twenty-five men were at work when the cave-in occurred. Those not buried helped police and firemen free the trapped men.

that the decisions of the supreme court were to the identical effect as two opinions written by the late Judge M. J. Yeomans before he resigned as attorney general. Yeomans told the Governor that whoever received the appointments would serve until January 1, 1941.

Reid was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Chief Justice Richard B. Russell Sr., while Arnall was named to the unexpired term of the late Judge Yeomans, who resigned as attorney general.

WIDE-EYED PUPILS SEE INDIAN MOUNDS

300 Have Much To Tell After Sight-Seeing Trip to Macon.

Three hundred Atlanta grammar school children had much to tell last night when they arrived home from a sight-seeing trip to Macon, where they inspected the Indian mounds and the Central of Georgia railway shops.

Accompanied by about 70 teachers and parents, the youngsters, from Peoples Street and Lee Street grammar schools, made the trip in a nine-car special train. Many of them received their first train ride.

At Macon, the students romped over the Indian mounds, picking up bits of stone and wood which they were convinced were Indian relics. Later they stood wide-eyed before huge puffing engines as T. A. Johnson, master mechanic of the Central of Georgia shops, explained what made the wheels go 'round.

M. E. Coleman, assistant superintendent in charge of grammar schools, said the excursion was a project in Georgia citizenship. He said the children recently had been studying Indian life and the trip gave them an opportunity to get first-hand information.

Mrs. F. A. Johnson, principal of Peoples Street school, arranged the trip. Miss Rusha Wesley, principal of the Lee Street school, accompanied the party. Music by the Joe E. Brown band gave the youngsters a sendoff.

State Employment Service Reveals Sharp Rise.

Sharp increase in the number of permanent jobs found by the Georgia State Employment Service for residents of Fulton and DeKalb counties again was shown yesterday with the announcement that 105 of the 139 placements made by the Atlanta office during the week ending December 2 were on steady jobs.

The other 34 workers were found employment that will last less than 30 days, it was pointed out. The jobs found gave employment to 39 white-collar workers, including sales and clerical workers and professionals; 10 skilled craftsmen such as carpenters, engravers, plumbers; 65 service workers, including waitresses, domestics and laundry workers; and 25 unskilled laborers.

Selznick Receives Resolutions Praising Him for Fairness.

By ANNIE LAURIE FULLER KURTZ.

AUGUST 30, 1939:

A most delightful day. Mrs. Arthur McD. Wilson Jr., and Mrs. William P. Dunn, of Atlanta, are visiting me. Mrs. Wilson, president of the Atlanta Ladies Memorial Association, and Mrs. Dunn, secretary of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association, attended the convention of the Confederate Memorial Association which was held in Trinidad, Col., August 22-26. At the convention, resolutions were passed by this national organization endorsing Mr. Selznick's efforts in producing the picture, "Gone With the Wind," in accord with historical accuracy and the traditions of the old South. Since resolutions had been previously passed by our local organization, the Atlanta Ladies Memorial Association, and Bird (Mrs. Dunn) came on out of the west coast to present these resolutions to Mr. Selznick personally.

In the morning, about 11:30, Evelyn Byrd (Mrs. Warren Christian) called for us, and Sarah, Bird, Annie Laurie and I went as her guests to the Del Mar Beach Club for luncheon. First, however, Evelyn drove us all over Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Westwood Village, Bel Air and Brentwood, where we saw the lovely homes and estates of the movie stars.

SEE LEIGH OLIVIER.

We got back to the hotel at 4 o'clock and changed into our best "bib and tucker" for the presentation. Sarah and Bird wore all their regalia, ribbons, badges, pins, etc., and looked most impressive. We went to the studio at 4:30 where we were joined by Mr. Neville Reay and Mr. William Helebert and together we five went to Mr. Selznick's office. Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier were there. Vivien had on a little candy-striped blouse and linen skirt—looked so sweet and girlish. Mr. Olivier is charming—equally as good looking off stage as he is on. He is very cordial and friendly—came over and sat down on the sofa by me—said that Vivien felt almost like an adopted daughter of the south now, since she had been portraying a southern character so long. Mr. Olivier took the leading role in Wuthering Heights and is to take the part of Maxim in Rebecca.

There was no formality about anything we did or said. The resolutions were beautifully handled, with letters on parchment, with insignia painted at top. Sarah, in a few friendly words, presented the local resolutions—those of the Atlanta Ladies Memorial Association, and then Bird, with equal charm and grace presented those of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association—reading them aloud.

Accuracy Praised. "Whereas: It is the Confederate Southern Memorial Association's desire to have conditions in the south before, during and after the War Between the States presented to the world with the utmost fidelity, and

"Whereas: Members of southern civic associations, patriotic societies and memorial bodies have visited the studio of Selznick International Pictures where Margaret Mitchell's celebrated novel,

WOMAN DEFEATS TWO MEN FOR ORDINARY

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. GAINESVILLE, Ga., Dec. 4.—Official returns show that Mrs. Nellie Brewer Spainhour defeated two men opponents for the post of ordinary of Hall county in the special election, to fill the unexpired term of her father, the late E. C. Brewer. The vote was: Mrs. Spainhour, 750; T. H. Robertson, 430; Odum Clarke, 184. She has served in the office five years and, in announcing, stated she would seek only the unexpired term, running to January 1, 1941. She thus becomes the first woman elective officer ever to serve in the county.

COMMUNIST CHARGED WITH PASSPORT FRAUD

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A second Communist leader was indicted today by a federal jury on a charge of passport fraud a short time after the trial on similar charges of Earl Browder, the party's national head, had been postponed until December 18. The new defendant was accused of having obtained and used a passport under the name of Robert William Wiener, whereas it was alleged his real name was Wewel Warszower. It was said by Assistant United States Attorney Lester Dunigan to have been financial secretary of the Communist party U. S. A. "until a few days ago."

'COMPLETE VICTORY' ON RATES FORESEEN

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., Dec. 4.—(AP)—A "complete victory" in the south's rail freight fight was predicted today by Senator Lister Hill, Democrat, Alabama, in an address before a crowd gathered for Scottsboro's "Trade Day." "Complete victory in the matter of freight rates may now be confidently predicted," he said, "because the real leaders in this fight have refused to stress the sectional aspects and insisted that it was a fight for the nation's good and beneficial to consumers everywhere in the nation."

It costs you money every time you don't read Want Ads in The Constitution.

"Gone With the Wind," is being produced in technicolor, and have observed the great care taken to make every detail of the production conform accurately to history and to the traditions and customs of the old south, and have expressed profound satisfaction with cast, scenic construction and action, and

"Whereas: The Confederate Southern Memorial Association feels that this motion picture adequately portrays the gallant pursuit of the ideals for which the heroes of the Southern Confederacy fought and died, and will in all ways preserve respect and reverence the precious memories that to southern people are treasured source of inspiration; therefore the gentlemanly manners of the past. Gallantry certainly has gone with the wind.

"Be It Resolved: That the Confederate Southern Memorial Association in national convention assembled, at Trinidad, Col., does hereby tender to David O. Selznick, producer of "Gone With the Wind," its plenary gratitude for his efforts in producing a motion picture that will, by presenting without partisanship or prejudice to either the north or the south, the true facts of a misunderstood era, do much to dispel sectional prejudice and strengthen the prevailing bonds of mutual understanding, fellowship and brotherly love between the northern and southern sections of the American people."

Mr. Selznick seemed deeply touched and most appreciative, stating that he would always consider these resolutions as among the most cherished tributes he had ever received.

"The costumes of the women of the sixties may have been harder to wear than have been harder to do, but certainly the clothes were far more beautiful than they are today. Too many women today follow the style rather than the beauty of their clothes."

Dixon is an authority on Southern styles of the period and about what men should wear he had the following to say: "Atlanta men can have their choice of four hats to wear to the ball. There is one type—broad-brimmed, that was worn during those days by plantation owners. They wore of tan, gray and black. Rhett Butler wore this type, but it was in cream color. The same style in gray was worn by Confederate officers during the war. Then there is the Lincoln type. These hats closely resemble those worn by him, hence the name, but in reality they are just the old stovepipe style. The bell top hat, which was very fashionable then and which will be very good for "Gone With the Wind" affairs, really came into prominence in 1840. The silk topper was a general favorite too.

with those of Vivien Leigh, the movie Scarlett.

Tomorrow morning those 42 excited girls will receive letters from Mrs. DeSales Harrison, chairman of the committee, telling them that their measurements will be taken Friday at the Piedmont Driving Club between the hours of 10 and 4 o'clock.

To Get Measurements. After all the measurements are recorded they will be submitted to the judges for the important task of comparing them with those of Miss Leigh which are now sealed in a vault.

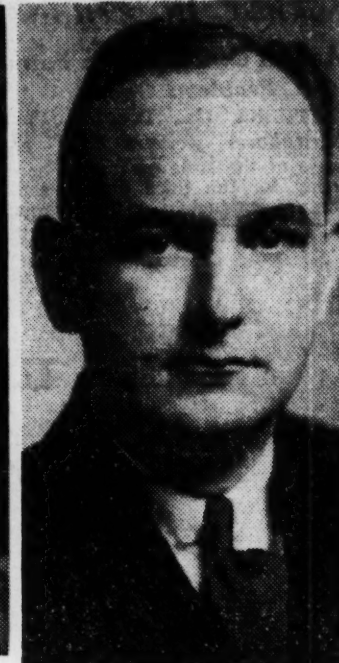

Fate of the girls then will be in the hands of Ellis Arnall, Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, of Macon, and Wilbur G. Kurtz Jr., who yesterday accepted the invitation of the Junior League to serve as judges. Arnall, attorney general of the state of Georgia, will see that everything progresses in the best legal manner. Mrs. Lamar, prominent member of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, is considered an authority on the south of War Between the States days. Kurtz is the son of the technical adviser for the film and himself a well-known artist.

These arbiters will meet at noon on Saturday at The Constitution offices to determine the winner. That lucky girl will be notified as soon as she is chosen, but her name will not be made public until she appears at the ball wearing

MOVE TO BREAK TIES WITH RUSSIA IS SHELVED BY U.S.

Administration Feels Rupture Now Would Harm Nation and Not Be of Help to Finland.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(P)—Any move to rupture diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia appeared today to have been definitely discarded by the administration—at least for the time being.

Although some members of the senate and house called for the break as a further rebuke to the Soviets for their invasion of Finland, the word was passed that officials desired to proceed cautiously.

State Department officials were known to be arguing that severance of relations and recall of Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt would:

1.—Not help Finland, already fighting for its life;

2.—Deprive the United States of a source of information and a contact at Moscow at a moment when they are sorely needed; and

3.—Possibly impair the influence the United States might bring to bear on an eventual peace in Europe.

Secretary Hull said at his press conference that there was nothing for him to take up on the question of breaking off relations.

He said also that the question of extending the "combat area," declared under the neutrality act, to include Soviet Russia had not come up and added that the government had not discussed the possibility of including petroleum in its "moral embargo" on the shipment of war planes to Russia.

The only further step with regard to Russia that appeared in imminent prospect was a simultaneous Pan-American condemnation of the Soviet action in Finland.

HUEY LONG'S LETTERS AT SHUSHAN TRIAL

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(UP)—The private correspondence of the slain Huey P. Long tonight appeared to be important evidence in the mail fraud trial of Abe L. Shushan, one of the Kingfish's former lieutenants, and four of his associates.

Assistant Orleans Parish District Attorney Albert Graun brought a stack of documents into court. Assistant Secretary of State H. C. Comish identified the sprawling signatures on two letters as those of Huey P. Long.

Red Puppet State in Finland Held Sign of No Compromise

Pertinax Believes Communist Setup Indicates Stalin Intends Putting Finns Under Soviet Dictatorship; Says Russia Will Seek To Prolong Other War.

By PERTINAX. For North American Newspaper Alliance, PARIS, Dec. 4.—(By wireless.)

The pact of mutual assistance signed by Russian Premier Molotov and Otto Kuusinen, head of the Communist puppet government created on the Russian border is generally interpreted as a sign that no compromise is likely to prevail, that Joseph Stalin and Molotov would not be content with a move to achieve the strategic domination of the Gulf of Finland and of the Arctic ocean, but intend to place the whole country of Finland under a Red dictatorship at their beck and call.

If the Russo-Finnish conflict really takes such a turn, the European war will probably spread to areas which so far have been left aside. Because Russia, considering that the victory, whoever he may be, is likely to turn against whereby sanctions against an aggressor are provided, will be held in reserve for a long while, until all the investigations and attempts at conciliation under Article XV have proved futile, which may be relied upon to absorb several weeks, or even months.

Now as to the purpose of Finland's appeal to Geneva. The Finnish cabinet cannot reasonably entertain the least allusions about the possibility of enlisting the assistance of the member states. It would be all the more foolish on its part to set any real hope up on the League's machinery against an aggressor since practically during the whole of 1938 the nations belonging to the Oslo group (and Finland among them) strove to bring about complete ruin of Article XVI, already badly impaired by France and Britain in 1935-36 when they lacked the nerve to bring Italy to book.

EXCLUSIVE

Sympathy About All. The most that Finland can expect to achieve, therefore, is to obtain in the council and assembly a demonstration of sympathy that afterwards would echo through the whole world.

But will her partners in the Oslo group, all imbedded in an attitude of strict neutrality, dare to go forward and even in words challenge Russia and, at the same time, Germany, which could not be entirely overlooked in the debate? And would the western powers, which hitherto have shown extreme circumspection and empiricism in their treatment of Russia, be willing to discard that prudence and take their stand by the principles inscribed in the League's covenant?

May Aim at Hitler.

The danger, from the point of view of France and England, is that the neutral states should try to find a way out of the impasse through supporting a motion for the opening of peace negotiations with Adolf Hitler on the pretext more or less implicitly expressed that the Stalinian empire, rather than the Hitlerian empire, deserves to be branded as common enemy number one.

The opinion of the French and British governments is directly opposite to that view. They are sure to act in Geneva accordingly and ward off everything that might lessen or jeopardize the pressure they exert on the German Reich.

It is interesting to mention that it is the Russian delegate's turn to preside at the session of the council and the initial sitting of the assembly. Will that circumstance rouse the feeling of the delegation and provoke such a reaction as to precipitate a formal break of the Soviet Union with the League? Some heed is to be paid to that possibility, but, for the rest, nothing tangible will issue of the discussion.

Procedure at Times.

But, in that respect, it must be observed that the League's procedure in a case where aggression has occurred can be a very slow business indeed, provided a majority of the powers represented in Geneva agree to make it so, and in the present juncture, that will probably be the case.

All odds are that Article XVI, which he will settle the matter with the Swiss government is a different question. Switzerland wrested from him last year, when he officially declared her intention to be reinstated in her status of perpetual neutrality, a promise that, in wartime, the League would refrain from any kind of action for which any belligerent power could bring her to court.

White Steps Into Blackout—Just Like a Lake of Soot

By WILLIAM L. WHITE. Special Correspondent. BERLIN (By Mail).—Yes, I know you have read about blackouts, and so had I. But you have never been in one, and neither had I.

The big Berlin railway station is comfortably lighted inside, and I walked down a long flight of marble steps toward its exit. This turns out to be not a pair of double doors but a vestibule with heavy drapes hung from the high ceiling in the form of a maze through which I must walk in a winding S-shaped path. As I step out into the city of Berlin what I see? Nothing and it is a shock. I might be standing on the bottom of a lake of soot.

But there are noises in this area. Footsteps, the occasional sound of a motor car. And, as my eyes grow a little more accustomed, even lights. Out there in what must be the street a pair of them—each no bigger than the candles on a baby's birthday cake—float silently along. This is a motor car. Such a pair pulls up to a spot in the murky blackness where the curbing should be. It is a taxi and, climbing in with the aid of the ghostly glow which filters through the maze of heavy drapes from the interior of the station, I give the name of my hotel. I hear the motor start and presently know we are out into the stream of traffic because other pairs of children's birthday candles are either passing us or floating alongside.

We go through blackness in a high-walled canyon. Its top is an irregular line of roofs silhouetted against the not-quite-so-black sky. But the bulk of these buildings are inky black—not so much as a crack of light to mark the edge of a window.

Then the taxi stops, and I make out another faint glow coming through a labyrinth of heavy drapes. It marks the door of the Hotel Bristol, so dim you cannot see it 20 feet.

So begins a new way of life. At 5:30 every evening the maid comes in to darken the window of my room. She lets down an outer shield of heavy wooden slats which dovetail into another—then she draws the heavy curtains which fall from ceiling to floor. If, after dinner, I go for a walk, I must feel my way along the buildings in inky darkness and steer by my ears, not my eyes. I can now tell the light step of a woman from the firmer one of a man. That heavy plunk! plunk! plunk! in slow funeral cadence along the sidewalk can only be the borborygmi of the policeman patrolling his beat.

Sometimes a car passes, and by the two tiny cigar-shaped slits of light in its lamp hoods I can tell whether that dark object looms ahead of me is a stationary lampost or a moving Storm Trooper. Because I have rubber soles on my shoes and make no noise I never go out at night without a lighted cigarette. This other pedestrians can see—otherwise hearing no sound they would not slacken their pace but walk straight into me in the darkness.

Tonight something is stirring. The maid comes around early, takes extra precautions with the window. They say the police have been going up and down the streets—watching for a gleam of light, cracking down on occupants of such houses. I walk out into the blackness after supper and here is a gorgeous sight—four giant anti-aircraft searchlights stabbing up into the sky—no, five—no, eight—a ring of tall columns of light rising straight up into the air. At the top of each column is a phosphorescent blurr where the light strikes a high strata of mist. Beyond are the dim stars. A gorgeous sight.

But is it safe to go out? Might not the British be coming with a load of pamphlets, and is there not some danger of getting your ear knocked off by a dangling particle hurtling down from that black abyss? The searchlights do not move. There is no rising scream of an alarm siren. Only the lights are there—a ring of tall, pale, sinister sentinels guarding the dictator's capital city from the democracies' bombers.

In war-darkened Berlin you soon learn to count the steps from your door to the corner—fifty-three—and then you must fumble with your toe for the low curbing. You are permitted a flashlight, but first two strips of black sticking plaster must be pasted over its lens leaving a bar of light hardly thicker than the edge of a quarter.

You fumble your way to movies, concerts, coffee houses and wine cellars where lights blaze and corks pop behind the heavy curtains.

JAPANESE MAY PAY U. S. FOR DAMAGES

Promise To Respect All American Interests Is Reported.

By H. O. THOMPSON. TOKYO, Dec. 5.—(Tuesday).—(UP)—An authoritative version of yesterday's conversation between Foreign Minister Admiral Kichiro Nomura and United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, which was given the United Press today, said the foreign minister promised compensation for all damages suffered by American interests because of Japanese military operations in China.

The Japanese armed forces in China from now on will make "every effort" to avoid damage to American property and will respect all American interests, the foreign minister said.

VIVA FINLAND! ITALIANS SHOUT

Disapproval of Russian Invasion Mounts.

ROME, Dec. 4.—(P)—Mounting Italian disapproval of the Soviet Russian invasion of Finland was shown today by vigorous student demonstrations in both Rome and Milan.

About 1,000 students paraded the streets of Milan for an hour behind Italian and Finnish flags. "Viva Finlandia," they shouted, urging resistance to the Soviet attack.

The parades massed before the Finnish consulate, where they cheered for several minutes and then proceeded to a square where they concluded the demonstration by shouting further pro-Finnish and anti-Russian slogans.

Cries of "Long live Finland!" and "Down with Russia, Stalin and Bolshevism!" echoed as the students moved off toward the Soviet embassy, but troops prevented them from reaching it.

Italian newspapers continued to express sympathy for Finland with headlines which emphasized the Finnish military success and almost ignored Russian communique.

RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR IS FORECAST

Red Officer Says Stalin Realizes Nipponese Are Weakened by War.

HONGKONG, Nov. 22.—(UP)—(By air mail)—Soviet Russia and Japan "will be tasting each other's blood" by next spring or summer, a high Soviet military officer, now an advisor to the Chungking government, told this correspondent in Chungking.

Joseph Stalin, he said, realizes Japan is weakened by the war in China and, although the ultimate victor, would require time to regain her resources.

Chief factor in determining whether Russia would go to war against Japan, he said, was Moscow's success in Europe. By occupying half of Poland and establishing the system of "alliances" in the Baltic area, Russia has made herself stronger on the west than at any time since the outbreak of the World War.

Realization that Great Britain, France and Germany will be tied up, possibly for the next two years or more, and will be too weak to threaten the Soviets when hostilities are concluded, has contributed to this feeling of security.

ALLIES WILL OUT BID GERMAN BUYERS

Also Will Undersell Nazis as Blockade of Exports Is Started.

LONDON, (Tuesday) Dec. 5.—(UP)—A double-edged blow to Germany's foreign trade, vital to the prosecution of a long war, fell last midnight.

Allied fleets began enforcing the blockade of German exports, as well as imports, at the stroke of 12. Anglo-French financial powers, in close co-operation with their governments, simultaneously initiated a drive aimed at beating Germany out of the markets still accessible to her.

The British and French navies were ordered to seize all German export goods, whether or not the ships sailed from German or neutral ports.

At the same time a British-French combine designed to shatter the Nazi economic structure entered the field prepared to purchase exportable surpluses from Germany's neighbors—such as the Balkan countries—at prices Germany will be unable to pay.

Russia Spurns League Call And Denies War on Finland

Moscow Charges Government It Refuses to Recognize Has Fled Helsinki; Finns Say They Are Holding Their Own.

MOSCOW, Dec. 4.—(P)—Soviet Russia today declared that it would not be possible to take part in the League of Nations meeting called next Saturday and Monday to consider a Finnish protest at the Russian invasion.

"The Soviet Union is not in a state of war with Finland and does not threaten the Finnish people with war," Premier Molotov told the League in a cablegram.

(Convocation of the League was seen tonight by the newspaper Fremdenblatt, of Hamburg, as an attempt to put Germany "on the carpet" before a world forum.)

Charge Flight.

Russia charged tonight that the "so-called government" of Finland already had abandoned its capital and the Kremlin refused Swedish effort to mediate the conflict.

(The United Press said Stockholm radio report said that a majority of the Finnish governmental departments already has left Helsinki, leaving behind only workers of public utilities, fire brigades, police and military formations. The capital, the radio report said, presents "the aspect of a dead city.")

A communique by Tass, official Soviet news agency, said Premier Molotov had explained to the Swedish minister that the Soviet government does not recognize the "so-called government of Finland which already has left Helsinki in an unknown direction and therefore there now can be no question of any negotiations with this government."

Refuse Recognition.

The statement added that Russia recognizes the "people's" government, which Russia has proclaimed was born at Terijoki on Finnish territory, as the only government of Finland.

(There was no immediate confirmation from Helsinki that the Finnish government had left there. Latest dispatches indicated the government still was functioning at Finland's capital.)

(The United Press, however, in a dispatch from Helsinki, said the government of Premier Rytty was preparing to abandon Helsinki and set up an emergency capital in the north after a reported Soviet threat to send an aerial bombardment of the city.)

A communique from Leningrad military headquarters meanwhile told of a relentless advance into Finnish territory.

On the Karelian isthmus, north of Leningrad, the announcement said, the Red army had thrust from 28 to 31 miles into Finnish territory.

North of Lake Ladoga, it added, the Red troops drove along the shore and occupied the town of Salmi, 13 miles over the frontier, and the railway station of Laimola, 44 miles north of Salmi.

In the Petsamo region, the communique said "Soviet troops pursuing a defeated group of Finnish troops," advancing 22 miles south of Petsamo, while Soviet warships in Petsamo port "cleared the berths of mines laid by the Finns."

FINLAND CLAIMS NEW SUCCESSES

HELSINKI, Dec. 4.—(P)—Fighting Finland tonight claimed new successes against Soviet Russian invaders and steeled herself for new and more vigorous assaults expected by land, sea and air.

The ghost-like capital, deserted except for defenders and those necessary for vital services, was grateful for lowering clouds and snowfall which kept Russian bombers away.

As night fell without further air raids on Helsinki, a government spokesman announced that in the eastern sector north of Lake Ladoga the Finns had captured 1,500 Russian troops. He said no further details of the capture were available.

(In the north, reports reaching Kirkenes, Norway, said 20,000 first line, well-equipped Finnish troops were standing off the Russian attack on the arctic region of Petsamo. The reports said several thousand Soviet troops had landed in that area but Finnish leaders declared their well-trained regiments in the far north would not be pushed back.)

"Holding Our Own."

In other theaters of the undeclared war the Finns asserted their forces were holding their own.

As a new defense measure, the Helsinki government announced it was fortifying the strategic Aaland Islands, which command the mouth of the Gulf of Bothnia.

COUNTS DISMISSED ON MAVERICK PLEA

Four Conspiracy Charges, However, Left Standing.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 4.—(P)—Mayor Maury Maverick failed today to obtain an instructed verdict of acquittal on charges of conspiracy to pay the poll tax of another.

District Judge Bryce Ferguson granted a defense motion for an instructed acquittal verdict on two counts alleging directly that he paid another's poll tax but held that the four conspiracy counts should be left standing.

EJECTION OF REDS BY LEAGUE ASKED

Montevideo similar to Argentina's, and other American republics who belong to the League prepared to take similar action, the foreign office said.

Informed quarters said that in addition to this action Brazil and other American nations which are not members of the League were likely to join in some form of condemnation of the invasion of Finland.

The Argentine message said Argentina believed "it is necessary to make a formal protest against Soviet aggression against Finland, committed in violation not only of League of Nations principles but of the most elemental rules of justice and humanity."

It also said that "creation of internal fronts in various countries in order to facilitate the expansion of Communism is a danger to which peoples who appreciate, above all, due respect for human lives, consciences and freedom cannot remain indifferent."

Argentina refused to recognize Soviet Russia and allowed the czarist embassy to function for years after the revolution.

DEMANDS EXPULSION OF REDS FROM LEAGUE

GENEVA, Dec. 4.—(P)—Forcing the issue with the backing of other South American countries, Argentina today demanded immediate expulsion of Soviet Russia from the League of Nations for her "aggression" against Finland.

The demand received widespread approval among the delegations at Geneva. Observers said it was expected to clarify quickly whether the Allies would wink at Soviet actions.

The Argentine delegate, Carlos A. Pardo, delivered his country's note to the League Secretary-General Joseph A. C. Avenol.

Before this action, Britain and France were reported vacillating over the wisdom of backing Finland's protest against the Soviet invasion. They were said to fear it might throw the Soviet into the arms of Germany.

DRAFTSMAN IS JAILED FOR PLANE PLANE THEFT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(P)—A charge of stealing secret airplane plans from the Douglas aircraft plant brought Edward William McDonough, 28, a six-month jail sentence today.

The draftsman pleaded nolo contendere before Federal Judge Harry A. Holzner, who termed the defendant "merely foolhardy" but added:

"It is readily conceivable that your action might easily have led to national injury. Agents of foreign powers are here to reap possible benefits from exactly such action as yours."

Tallulah Committee To Be Feted at Tea

An interesting event of this afternoon will be the conference tea at which Mrs. Charles King and Mrs. Rufus King, chairmen, will entertain the personal gifts committee of the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls School. The meeting will be held at 3:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Plans will be discussed for providing each student of the Tallulah Falls school with a personal gift at Christmas time and the co-chairmen will tell what arrangements have already been completed. Each member of the committee will be asked to provide a present for at least one of the mountain children.

Beautiful Christmas decorations, holly and poinsettias will be used in the private drawing room and in the dining room. Lighted red tapers will flank the centerpiece of red berries and greens.

Special guests invited are Mrs. John K. Ottley, Mrs. James N. Frazer, president of the circle, and the other officers: Mrs. W. C. Use Same Bowl For Two Kinds Of Salad

By Sally Saver.

New ideas for salads are always in demand, because in this modern day when all of us know we must have vitamins as well as calories, salads accompany all luncheon and dinner menus. If you have a divided salad bowl, now is the time to use it; two kinds of salad in the same bowl is a popular notion that is growing in popularity. If you haven't a divided bowl you may make a dividing line in your large bowl with salad greens. The shrimp salad pictured is made as follows:

Shrimp Salad.
2 cans shrimp (or an equal quantity of fresh shrimps cooked, or use frozen shrimps).
2 cups celery, diced.
4 hard cooked eggs, diced.
1-4 cup sweet pickle, chopped.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
2 tablespoons pimiento, chopped.
1 teaspoon salt.
1-2 cup lemon mayonnaise.
Toss lightly, and place on one side of bowl which has been lined with lettuce, chlorey or romaine. The shrimp salad should be served with lemon mayonnaise dressing.

The other side of the bowl is lined with watercress and filled with 4 cups orange slices. This salad is served with lemon French dressing. These dressings are made thus:

Lemon Mayonnaise.
1 egg.
1-4 cup lemon juice.
1 teaspoon mustard.
1 tablespoon sugar.
Dash of pepper or paprika.
Beat in slowly, using whirl-type beater, 1 pint salad oil.
Beat until dressing is thick. Makes about 2 1-2 cups.
Lemon French Dressing.
1-2 cup lemon juice.
1-2 cup salad oil.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon paprika.
2 tablespoons sugar or honey.
Shake well. Makes 1 cup.
With a cup of hot soup, and served with hot rolls and coffee, this salad bowl would make a grand luncheon. Sally Saver will answer personally, questions about recipes and cookery. Write or phone The Constitution, or Walnut 6585.

A Touch of Novelty

By Barbara Bell.

Do you take a large size? Then here's a simple, well cut dress (1835-B) that will be the joy of your life! It's thoroughly comfortable and practical for house work, and at the same time sufficiently tailored so that you can wear it on shopping and marketing jaunts, too.

Built on shirtwaist lines, it has a touch of novelty in the scalloped closing, the narrow collar, deeply notched to make it more becoming to full faces, and the clever use of braid. Above the slim, plain skirt, the bodice has bosom gathers and a slight blouse to assure comfortable ease over the bust. Make this of gingham, percale or linen for home wear; of wool crepe or jersey for street wear. It's very easy to make. Your pattern includes a detailed sew chart.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1835-B is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 4 1-2 yards of 39-inch material; 5-8 yards contrast; 2 1-2 yards trimming.
It's smart to sew your own! It's easy to do! Send for our fascinating Pattern Book. Choose from more than 100 new designs for all occasions and all sizes. Make your own becoming clothes, with these simple patterns. Step-by-step sew chart with each one.

No Propaganda Lecture Tour For Me, Says Charles Boyer

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—Quite a lot of women are angling for the role of mother to John Garfield in what was originally called "Mama Ravioli," then "My Son," and is now without a title. Tests have been made of Judith Anderson, Maria Quesada, Flora Robson, Jane Darwell, Gale Sondergaard and Ruth Gordon. It will be a fat part for whoever snags it. The story is of an Italian woman with a weakling adopted son, John Garfield. Her own son (Edward Norris) is the goody-goody type, but I have a feeling the sympathy will go to Garfield. Jane Bryan is a possibility for the girl.

Title for the next Mary Martin musical at Paramount is "Miami," based on the old song—"On Miami Shore." . . . Madeline Carroll was

Find Contract That Will Net Highest Score

By Harold Sharpsteen.

In rubber bridge there is seldom cause for regret if the best contract in the combined hands is not always reached, even though some other bid might have netted a few extra points.
Duplicate players soon realize that rubber bridge and duplicate are two different kinds of contract. In rubber bridge the play is invariably on the basis of the score made on each individual hand.

THE BEST SCORE.
On "board a match," the problem is not always locating the best bid, but, the contract that will net the highest score, even though the bid involves risks not ordinarily justified in the standard rubber bridge game. Under the "board a match" arrangement the size of the gain or loss is not so important because each pair is accorded a match point for each team whose score it better.

In the eight-table duplicate tournament there are only seven points difference between the top and bottom teams. The low team scores zero if it is defeated by 100 points or 1,100 points, the top team seven points.

TAKING A CHANCE.
This effect in scoring frequently drives bidding into unusual channels and often results in weird declarations. The difference in rubber bridge and duplicate bidding is well illustrated in the following deal:

North.
S-K 8 6 4 2
H-J 10 7 2
D-A 2
C-9 4
West.
S-3
H-5
D-K 7 5 4
C-Q J 10 8 7 5 3
East.
S-A Q 7
H-Q 8 6 4 3
D-J 10 6
C-6 2

South.
S-J 10 9 5
H-A K 9
D-Q 9 8 3
C-A K
While the distribution of South's hand suggests notrump, if North has a sound spade takeout, it should be played in spades and the risk attendant on play at notrump should not be attempted.

TEN-POINT ADVANTAGE.
In duplicate, instead of seeking the safest contract, South players believing the North-South hand will produce the same number of tricks at notrump, will put the hand in a notrump declaration because four odd at notrump scores 130 game points as against 120 game points for a four-spade contract.

The notrump declaration in rubber bridge might reasonably be considered a bad bid but it is in accordance with the accepted standards of duplicate bidding.

fourth choice for the role of Livia in "My Son, My Son." They wanted Kay Francis, but she didn't think the part suited her. Then they tried to get Greer Garson, but Metro said "no," since she was needed for "Susan and God" (with Frederic March as the husband). Then Annabella, Tyrone Power's wife, was suggested for the role, but the producer vetoed the French actress on the score of accent. That was when Madeleine was called in. Frances Dee plays the other important feminine role. . . . Miss Carroll, by the way, is going to be pretty busy these next few months. She is also cast as the leading lady in the Cecil B. De Mille epic of the northwest mountains (for which Barbara Stanwyck was originally selected).

"Lady Comes to Burkburnett" is the title for a Clark Gable-Spencer Tracy picture to be directed at Metro by Jack Conway. The leading lady will be either Myrna Loy or Greer Garson. . . . Marc Connelly is scripting "The Yearling." . . . Charles Boyer states that he will not go on a propaganda lecture tour for the French government, but will fulfill several picture commitments in Hollywood. If this is the case, then Charles will get around to making that picture with Deanna Durbin—which is a good break for both of them. . . . Talking about propaganda, Alexander Korda's "The Lion Has Wings," sponsored by the British government, is now being shown in Canada as a prelude to release in this country.

Claire Trevor is teamed with John Payne and Walter Pidgeon in "Dark Command," which Raoul Walsh will direct for Republic. . . . Roland Young supports Linda Darnell in "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star." . . . Eddie Albert, Jane Bryan and Claude Rains get the top roles in Warners' "For the Rich They Sing"—a musical against a college background. . . . Fred MacMurray has been paired for "Three Cheers for the Irish," in which Thomas Mitchell has a big part and Priscilla and Rosemary Lane supply the feminine interest. . . . Victor McLaglen goes tough on us again with the title role in "Kit Carson." . . . Paulette Goddard and Bob Hope are reunited in another creepy chiller—"The Ghost Breaker."

He Had Rather Not Hear Any More About It

By Caroline Chatfield.

Dear Miss Chatfield:
Please give me a woman's viewpoint on this question. My girl and I are both seniors at college, separated by a thousand miles. She's at a co-educational college where she's thrown with boys and since she's got plenty on the ball she has plenty of bids for dates. Up to this time she has written me frankly about the football games, the dances, and other parties she's been to, told me about the boys she goes with and always tells me that the more she sees of others, the more she thinks of me.

I got fed up with it and wrote her that she needn't report any further on her dates since I was studying hard and dating nobody. I thought, of course, she would write and tell me that if I was worried about her going around with the fellows she'd cut it out. Instead she wrote that I was depriving her of great pleasure; confiding in me, but if that's the way I felt, she'd respect my wishes. I'm jealous as the dickens and I feel that if she loved me as she pretends to, she wouldn't be so keen for other fellows.

SENIOR.

Answer: Unhappily for you, a woman's viewpoint is invariably in favor of a girl's swinging corners to the coast. As many boys as possible until the true love is in position to make definite plans, buy the ring and name the day. Such time is probably a long way off for a senior who must yet get his diploma, his job and his nest egg.

Furthermore, a woman's viewpoint is always in favor of a lover's being unselfish and generous with his best gal, even though it costs him some pangs of jealousy; because every woman knows that a dog-in-the-manger lover will be a dog-in-the-manger husband raised to the nth degree.

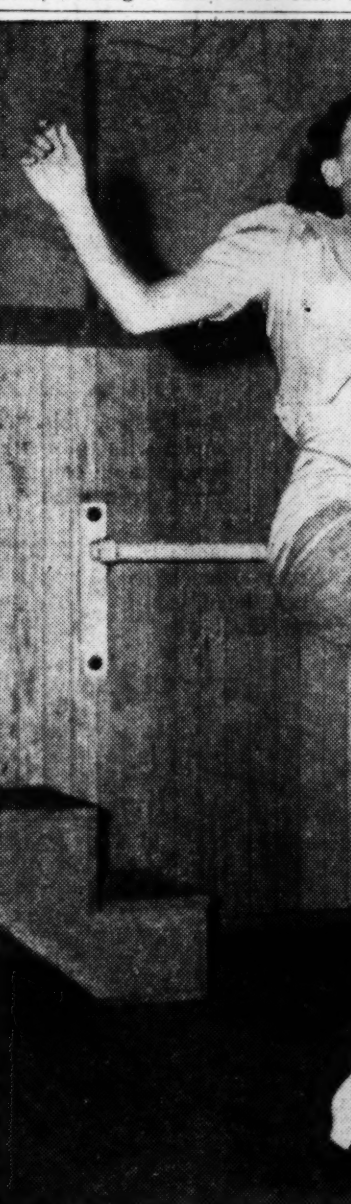

You see a gal can't go to a dance (breath of life to her) without a beau nor have a rush at the dance unless she has a lot of friends to look out for her. So when her best beau is far away for a year at a time it isn't quite fair for him to ask her to take the veil and twiddle her thumbs until he returns.

Incidentally a jealous and dejected lover should find great consolation in the fact that his gal confides in him, since there's no better proof of genuine affection. It's only when concealments and deceptions creep into her relationship with him that her interest is waning and her love lies a-bleeding.

So from the woman's viewpoint again it's caxey for the long distance lover to encourage his best gal to confide in him and very stupid of him to put the quietus on her. She might begin to say to herself, "What he doesn't know won't hurt him." Then she's out from under.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

BRADY REVERSES CAREER.
Lovely Olympie Bradna, recently featured in Paramount's "The Night of Nights," is accounted one of the most feminine of all Hollywood's feminine players, but was signed to her contract because she stopped the show at the French Casino, in New York, wearing a man's sailor suit.

MY DAY: Rights of Children To Live Properly

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON—I felt yesterday as though I had been handed some extra time which just dropped out of the sky, and I can assure you I used every minute of it! Christmas presents took up the afternoon and the usual mail took up the morning.

A letter has come to me which so well describes the way in which many people have to struggle in their lives, that I use it in my column today. Of course, the letter, itself, goes into greater detail than I am able to give you here, but I think even the excerpts paint a picture which we should all remember at this season.

"My son was 11 months old when his daddy died. He is now 13 1/2 years old. He belongs to a Boy Scout troop sponsored by the church. He is assistant patrol leader and has passed second class examination. He is industrious. He has been selling magazines since he was 11. Since last Christmas, he has paid $45 for a bike to deliver magazines. This past summer he sold papers, too. He bought a radio, he buys all of his clothes and two Scout suits complete, pays for his haircuts and, in fact, all his expenses except food, and he lets me have money when we run short. He went to a Scout camp twice this summer and furnished his own spending money.

"He is bright in school. He was seven before he could attend school, and not very regularly the first term. He is in the seventh grade now, having made two grades in one term. Of course, I am, as every mother the world over, desperately in love with my boy and girl. Only I guess it is different with us, for we are so alone. We have no one with whom to share our lives—

"I married quite young. I went to school for a while after I married and took a business course. . . . Housing conditions have been a deplorable state here. . . . Residents here who have houses to rent have gone mad over the subject of rent. Just anything partly furnished and called an apartment rents and people have to pay the price demanded. The type of apartment most commonly rented to working people is a one-room affair, or a one-room and kitchenette. These apartments rent from $5 a week up, and you pay for your own utilities.

"Whole families live like this. Cook, eat and sleep in one room, sometimes with only one window, and sharing a bath with perhaps 20 other people. Last winter we tried to exist on $45 a month, had $17 left after paying rent, for food—and my daughter has to pay transportation to and from school. School expenses seem greater than anywhere else. I pay transportation to and from work. We could not have existed if Billy had not sold magazines. The head of the news agency let him keep his check-up money and only check in twice a month.

"Mrs. Roosevelt, my boy and girl are the future citizens of our country. They have a right to live normally, happily and have health. They are, despite living conditions, bright, courteous and industrious. They are outstanding students. They deserve a chance."

You Need Protective Foods For Health and Good Looks

By Ida Jean Kain.

Usually I string along with the doctors. I am always telling you that you should see your doctor before attempting to reduce, and that if you have more than 20 pounds to lose, it is only common sense to have a medical check on heart, blood pressure, blood sugar and metabolism.

But two reducers write this week that they saw their doctors and were advised to "just eat 50 per cent less of everything." A third was told merely to "cut down on all meals." None of those suggestions is a safe way to remove any considerable amount of excess weight.

What do you think happens when you cut down to 50 per cent of your usual food intake? To begin with, we'll suppose that you are following an average diet. . . . Now, it has been proved that on the average diet you get barely enough calcium, iron and vitamins to cover your needs. So if you were to cut down to half your usual fare you would be on a very poor diet indeed.

When you go on a reducing diet you still need the same amount of everything and you do not get along on less. The reason you are able to burn up the excess pounds is that you draw on stored fat for the dietary deficit. But an effective reserve of the protective elements is not stored. If the diet is deficient in minerals, vitamins or protein, you draw on vital tissues for them, and your resistance is lowered. On a poor diet you catch cold easily, your teeth decay, your hair loses its luster, and your nails split.

There are two safe ways to reduce. One is to follow a balanced 1,200 calorie menu. On the planned menu, you are sure of getting the food elements you need because they are given first place. The second way is to cut down on the nonessentials. These are: the fats—greasy, salad dressing, fried foods, excess cream; the sweets—sugars, jelly, rich desserts, candy; the starches—macaroni, rice, spaghetti, all excess breads and cereals. On this plan the cut is in the foods you do not need and therefore there is a better chance of leaving in the important foods.

Sometimes I think the doctors have helped to drive women to adopt faddy diets. When a woman goes to her doctor for a sensible reducing diet and he dismisses her with a wave of the hand and the assurance that she is healthy at whatever weight she happens to be. . . . well, he can be sure of one thing: She will not "let well enough alone."

There is the doctor's side, too! Many of them are constantly overworked. They see so much illness and misery in the course of the day that they can't always take the healthy overweight's troubles very seriously.

Nevertheless, I still want you to consult your doctor before trying to take off any great amount of avoirdupois. He is the only one who can check you over. . . . but don't follow any instructions to just eat 50 per cent less of everything!

Woman's Quiz

Q. Give directions for steamed clams.

A. Examine clams to see that they have shells tightly held together, proving that they are alive. If time allows, place them in water in a shallow pan about three hours before steaming and sprinkle a handful of cornmeal over them. They will absorb this and work out sand which may be held in the shell. Scrub the clams and rinse thoroughly, changing water several times. Put into large kettle, allowing 1-2 cup water to four quarters of clams; cover closely and steam until shells partially open, care being taken that they are not overdone as this makes them tough. Serve with melted butter to which a few drops of lemon juice or vinegar has been added. Serve the clam broth left in kettle with the clams.

Q. Do decayed leaves have more fertilizing value than the ashes of burned leaves?

A. Yes, because the nitrogen in leaves is driven out when they are burned.

Budget Your Way Out of Money Worries

It's not much fun buying Christmas gifts if that means letting regular bills go unpaid. And the worst of it is you're usually months getting out of the jam.

But there's a way out of such money worries. Budget! For when you budget you look ahead—and you plan for pleasures as well as for the necessities of life. Then no agonizing moments deciding between the gas bill and your club's gala dinner.

How does a budget work? You begin by entering every cent you spend for a month under definite classifications. If your monthly income is $120, your budget for a family of three should read something like this: Rent $24, food $36, household operating $18, clothing $13.20, advancement $16.80, savings $12.

Perhaps you find you spend too much for food, have too little for your advancement fund—which covers pleasures, such as gifts and car, personal items like permanent waves and carfare.

Then you make little cuts here and there in your food bill, add the saving to advancement. For instance, you save by using fresh milk for drinking only, canned milk for cooking. For cakes and other dishes requiring eggs, use Grade B eggs instead of Grade A. And you may find dried fruits cheaper than fresh in winter.

In similar ways you manage other items—pinching a little here, enlarging a little there—until you have worked out a budget to fit your needs and desires.

And once you start to budget you'll always do it! In our 40-page booklet, How to Budget Your Income, sample budgets from real life show you how to divide your money, get what you want. Includes ruled pages for a whole year's entries.

Send 15c in coins for our booklet, HOW TO BUDGET YOUR INCOME, to Home Institute, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Coeds at the University of Georgia Attend Classes in Ancient Vehicle

By Sally Forth.

"TRUELOVE" is no longer a "pet name" for a sweetheart. It is the name of an ancient convertible coupe belonging to Anne Garrett, of this city, and her classmates at the University of Georgia, Mary Hunter, of Quitman, and Susie Tucker, of Waynesboro. Anne, you know, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Steve Garrett, of Atlanta, and is a popular member of the A. D. P. sorority at the state university.

The car was appropriately titled "True Love" because it never runs smoothly. Unlike most of its original 1917-18 vehicles, it is often called, the model retains its original rusted coat of black paint. Its owners, you see, prefer its present state of inconspicuousness.

The diet of the gas tank is one gallon of fuel each day, which is administered whether needed or not. Incidentally, Sally is informed that "running out of gas" during the afternoon is an almost daily occurrence for the attractive co-ed owners.

Although "True Love" conscientiously performs its duty in transporting Anne, Mary and Susie to and from classes and sorority houses, the ancient vehicle has no emergency brakes. The girls' laughingly overlook this defect by placing a sofa pillow beneath the front wheels when they park. "True Love's" weak horn will be replaced at Christmas by a lusty one of the Packard design, which will doubtless assure its occupants of no traffic interference.

The belles are still looking for the mischievous boys who recently attached a smoke bomb and a whistling bomb to the starter. The accompanying noise was heard from Mary Lyndon dormitory to the courthouse in the city square—a distance of about a mile!

SALLY has just been informed of other prominent Georgians who will be present for the premiere of Margaret Mitchell's famous novel, "Gone With the Wind," to be held on December 15. The attractive visitors are Mr. and Mrs. Cason Callaway who, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClain at their home on Cherokee road, will attend the Junior League ball on the evening of December 14 and the premiere on the following evening.

Among numerous affairs to honor the visitors is the luncheon at which their hosts will entertain on December 14 at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Callaway are well-known in this city, having visited here often. Mrs. Callaway is the former Miss Virginia Hand, of Pelham, and is the charming chaperone of her attractive homes in Blue Springs and LaGrange.

WHILE Sally is on the all-absorbing topic of "Gone With the Wind," here is an anecdote on the subject which is going the rounds.

A scion of one of Atlanta's oldest and most esteemed families was summoned to the telephone recently. The party on the other end of the wire said that since Mr. Blank was a member of such an illustrious Atlanta family, that he could surely help out on some points concerning the city celebration planned for the world premiere of "Gone With the Wind."

Highly flattered and complimented at such a request, the socialite replied that, of course, he would be delighted to assist. His interrogator then went on to say that plaques were going to be hung to designate the various historical spots described in Margaret Mitchell's famous novel, and that since they had located all of the spots except one, they had chosen Mr. Blank, because he was the most highly qualified, to locate the designated spot.

The site to be located was, of course, Belle Walling's house, to the great chagrin of the prominent Atlantian!

A BRIGHTLY tinted real autumn leaf adorns the cover of the novel invitations issued by Mrs. Ward Wight to the steak-try at which she will entertain tomorrow evening in compliment to Josephine Sanders and Caroline Candler. The honor guests, you know, are admired members of the current Debutante Club, of which Mrs. Wight's daughters, Selma and Beck are popular additions.

Penned in three horizontal columns inside the cover in red ink is the following informal invitation:

Mrs. Ward Wight invites you to come and cook a big steak in her woods in honor of Caroline Candler and Josephine Sanders on Wednesday, December 6, at 7 o'clock.

Supper will be served from a long table sprinkled with simulated snow, and centered with a miniature sled drawn by reindeer. Red candles arising from highly polished apples will adorn the ends of the table.

Nazi Diet Costs Tech Boys 22 Pounds Total in Weight

'That Stuff Enough To Make Anyone Weak,' Says Student.

By CHARLES GILMORE.

Four Georgia Tech students yesterday became the envy of weight-conscious dieters when they stepped on the scales and saw a total loss of 22 pounds inflicted by seven days of eating only German war-rations.

But they did not appreciate their loss. "A week of eating that stuff is enough to make anyone weak," one observed, as they sat down grimly to another meal composed of one frankfurter, a handful of boiled cabbage and three spoonfuls of field peas.

Results of the check on their weight, first serious tabulation since the diet began November 27, appalled them. Last week they looked forward optimistically to holding out until Christmas holidays drove them home. But yesterday the four boys said they would lose a "few more pounds" and then quit.

Two Loss Seven Pounds.

Henry Mayo, 153 pounds, yesterday denied the Georgia Tech College Inn scales "cut 146 pounds. His mark was tied by hefty James Scanlon, who last week weighed in at 158 pounds and yesterday found himself lighter by seven pounds.

The group's lightweight, Ed Schmidt and George Strubling, also showed noticeable, but not serious, losses. Schmidt's weight decreased from 137 to 134 pounds while Strubling went from 145 to 140 pounds during the week.

The diet, which permits the boys only such food as is available in Germany today, is proving a point. It began last week when a group of students staged a protest to see how well the German people can subsist on meager rations. They still were unacquainted with the stamina of Nazi youths, but were unanimous in declaring that American students could not last long on the bird-like meals.

"Five More To Go."

Mayo and Scanlon, the heaviest losers, were firm yesterday in giving themselves a decrease of "five more pounds." They said, "After that we're through. It doesn't make any sense. This was all right for a while, but seven pounds is seven pounds."

Even the lone bottle of beer each is allowed every day hasn't helped the situation. Sunday, too, they were given a "cheating allowance" of one coffee roll and still the scales went down.

With 20 days until Christmas, at the present rate of decline, the boys stand to lose a grand total of 22 pounds each. But they will never get to Christmas that way, they say. They'll quit first, science and international relations notwithstanding.

PROGRESS DESTROYS LAGRANGE LANDMARK

LAGRANGE, Ga., Dec. 4.—Another LAGRANGE landmark has been destroyed to make way for modern improvements, with the razing of the old Bull House, on Bull street.

Built about the middle of the 19th century by Orville Augustus Bull, one-time state legislator and judge of the Troup superior court, the small colonial house passed into the possession of his daughter, Mrs. Addie B. Tomlinson, finally to become the property of Callaway Mills here. Now a part of LAGRANGE's business district, the property will be used for business houses, but no plans for immediate construction have been formulated, a representative of the present owner said.

'The Black Eagle of Harlem' Offers Cash for Natty Divine

Former Disciple Testifies Little Man Told Her of Quadrillions in Treasury, But She Couldn't Get Her Money Back.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A throng of dusky Harlem "angels" jubilantly chanted "Sittin' at de table de de Lord" today as they trooped out of the state supreme courtroom where the little bald man they call "God" appeared as defendant in a $4,476 equity suit brought by a disgruntled ex-disciple.

"Peace!" they shouted. "Ain't you glad?"

Their ecstasy arose from an offer by Colonel Hubert Fauntleroy July 42, self-styled soldier-of-fortune, aviator and "black eagle of Harlem," to put up $12,500 cash for an out-of-court settlement of claims totaling $17,000 against Father Divine.

Throughout the four-hour session, the Harlem Messiah himself—natty in a double-breasted blue business suit, blue shirt and dark tie—never batted an eye as the chief complainant, Mrs. Verinda Brown, 52, a West Indian, sparked hostile glares in his direction and testified the cult leader often talked about "cosmic forces" and "the millions, the trillions, the quadrillions and I don't know how much more money he had in his heavenly treasury."

The witness said it was a far less cheerful story, however, when she wanted to get her money out of the "heavenly treasury." She couldn't get a nickel back, she said.

Walter Rebukes Himself for His Feelings Toward the Lovely Faith

By Margaret Gorman Nichols.

SYNOPSIS: Faith Gardner, orphaned as a child, is raised by an aunt in a New England village. She is a stenographer in a factory and when her aunt dies she goes to New York. Lonely, jobless sometimes, after two years she and Gretchen Cole furnish a small apartment. Faith is then a secretary in the firm of which Walter Edmonds is vice president. Gretchen, who left an Ohio town after a shattered romance, is styled in a big store. Grete Heath, employed by the Edmonds firm takes her to a cocktail party given by Edmonds and his wife Astrid. Walter presents her to Franz Bragonier, musician and composer, whom Astrid met in Hawaii. She is in love with him and plans to divorce Walter. Even before she meets Carl Edmonds, Walter's brother, famous as an aviator, she is in love with him. As she leaves, the Edmonds family, headstrong, 14-year-old daughter Sue meets her, saying she has run away from school again. She likes Faith and at her suggestion Walter makes her his secretary. He asks her to win Sue's confidence and suggest how to handle her. Faith despairs when Carl says he will never marry because of his loving, hard-earned life. Astrid suddenly sees in Faith the answer to her problem of getting rid of Walter. Gretchen is promoted to Paris buyer and refuses to marry Philip Turner, who had quit hard drinking when he met her. Sue is desperate; she refuses to sleep with young Michael Britton and he said he wouldn't see her again. Walter asks Faith to take Sue to Florida. Carl kisses Faith for the first time but she knows he won't marry her. Now go on with the story.

INSTALLMENT XXIII

When she glanced over the water, he looked at her—slim and tanned in the scant little blue satin suit. She was incredibly lovely and he would be something less than a man if he were not aware of her, he thought. Faith seemed so warmly alive after Astrid's cool aloofness. The comparison seemed him. How absurd to think that perhaps he was falling a little in love with Faith Gardner, his secretary.

He was a fool, Walter Edmonds told himself, and it must be checked instantly, this awareness of Faith, this desire to know her better and to drop the barrier of employer and employee. But perhaps like Sue he, too, had lived without sympathy quite without realizing it until now. Astrid, gracious and beautiful, gave so little of herself, lived within herself, went quietly about getting the things she wanted and surrounded herself with people who admired her. All at once he felt the touch of acute unhappiness.

What was the matter with him? These things had not occurred to him before. He had been too busy, too certain of his family, too . . . yes, too smug. And now he wanted to say something to the girl beside him, something tender and appreciative. More than that, he wanted to tell her he had just discovered that he was lonely and that he had just discovered also that his marriage was not the perfect thing he had for years believed it to be; that Astrid should have come with him and that nothing should be more important to a woman than her husband's holiday and the happiness of her child.

When Faith looked back at him, he said, "Will you go dancing with me some evening, Faith?" Suddenly he didn't care if friends from New York saw them and talked. Astrid should have come with him. "And for the present, at least, I'd like you to think of me as a friend and not . . . the boss. Do you think you could manage that?"

She smiled at him. "I think so, Walter."

"Good. This is the first holiday I've permitted myself in two years and it might be my last for another two years. And people tell me, Carl, for instance, that I've never played enough or lived enough. You haven't either, have you?"

But Sue was coming toward them. "Two guesses you're talking about me . . ."

Walter said, "You flatter yourself, dear. I've been talking to Faith about taking her dancing some night—tonight . . ."

"Don't I get invited, too?"

"Not tonight. Having lived with you, slept with you and dined with you for more than a week, don't you think she's deserving of an evening without you?"

Sue grinned. "I think you've got something there, Daddy. I'll be a good girl and go to bed early. She would call Michael the instant Faith and her father left . . ."

Later, in the room when Faith was slipping a yellow net dancing frock over her head, Sue said, "I'm glad, mother didn't come. Now daddy can have some real fun and take you around. And mother . . ." She walked to the window and looked out. "I told you before she didn't care about me. I heard her tell somebody once that she never wanted any more children. I don't guess she even wanted me."

"That's not true, Sue," Faith said. "Your mother has a full busy life. I'm sure she loves you."

Sue turned and smiled a little sadly. "You look elegant. When daddy is with us, he's young, isn't he?"

"He is. But all children think their fathers are old."

That evening was the beginning not only of many evenings in Miami's most glamorous places with Walter but of days with him swimming, lunching leisurely, motoring (he had rented a small car) to places they had not seen. Occasionally Sue went with them but usually she said, "No, you go. I'd rather stay and swim with Polly Blakely and Pete Trader. Maybe I'll do some shopping this afternoon. They have such cute clothes here."

Wearing a powder blue sports frock and a turban of the same color, Faith looked across her luncheon table at Walter. They were sitting in a shady grove outside a famous hotel in Palm Beach and he had been so kind and considerate, granting each half-valued wish, that she wondered now how they could resume the roles of vice president and secretary when they returned to New York. And not once, though they had been together constantly, had he overstepped the bounds of friendliness. Fortunately Astrid had a husband like Walter, she had thought often.

Yet there were for her degrees of sadness in their friendship, for often some trivial remark or his abandoned laughter brought Carl near. Many times, too, that pleasant week she had been reduced to a sick silence when she realized that in New York Astrid and Franz Bragonier were no doubt discussing the end to Walter's long marriage while he was enjoying a much-needed holiday.

He lighted a cigarette and pulled the tall, cold glass toward him. "I'm flying back Sunday. And I can't think of a single really good excuse to stay. Otherwise I would. But I want you and Sue to stay as long as possible—until you're both tired and want to come back. The Michael incident is obviously over." He smiled at her. "Faith, how does a man say that he will be everlastingly grateful without being mawkish? As Sue always says, 'I'm having fun.'"

Crackers and Giants Can't Agree on Players in Rucker Deal

All in the Game

—by Jack Troy

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 4.—Bert Niehoff, who did a great job as manager of the Jersey City club last season, can think of nothing finer than for John Rucker to need another year of minor league ball before landing in the majors.

Bert wishes Nap's nephew all the luck in the world with the Giants, but if John has to be sent out, Jersey City will get him, and Niehoff likes that idea fine.

Asked today how he would like to have Rucker, Niehoff looked at the questioner as if he had just been offered a large income for life.

"From all I've heard about the boy, I think he may make the grade with the New York Giants, but if he doesn't, he'll certainly find a hearty welcome awaiting him with the Jersey Giants," Niehoff declared.

New York writers covering the convention think Rucker has an excellent chance of making the grade with Bill Terry, his first year. They point out that the Giants have not had very exceptional outfielding for some time, and that a boy of Rucker's type, with all his speed, should fit in nicely.

Manager Paul Richards figures that if Terry will go along with Rucker and give him plenty of time, he'll make the grade his first year.

Nap Rucker, who is well remembered by the older baseball writers, said today that if John needs to have another year of seasoning he could think of no finer man for him to be under than Bert Niehoff. "After a year under Bert, I don't think there would be any question about him sticking in the majors," Nap said.

THE GREATEST PLAYER.

Lefty O'Doul, one of baseball's finer characters, thinks the greatest ball player of them all is playing center field for the New York Yanks. He'll take Joe DiMaggio over all of them, including Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Hans Wagner, and the rest. He takes Wagner as his second choice. O'Doul says all Cobb could do was hit and run, and all Ruth could do was hit. This was a reminder of the old gag that "All Caruso could do was sing," but there may be points to O'Doul's argument.

The flashily dressed manager of the San Francisco Seals says that the Yanks pulled the biggest boner of the age when they failed to bring Vince and Dominic DiMaggio to New York and provide an all-brother outfield.

"There's never been anything like that in baseball before. Just think what such an outfield would mean to a team like Chicago, for instance. Would folks turn out to see them or not? Sure, they would."

"Maybe Dominic and Vince wouldn't hit too much, but that's all right. Joe would carry them offensively, and defensively they'd be the top outfield of all time. You can have the Hooper-Speaker-Lewis combination. The outfield of DiMaggio, DiMaggio and DiMaggio would put them in the shade."

It's too bad a smart outfit like the Yankees overlooked such a bet. That all-brother outfield would have been the biggest drawing card of all time," O'Doul declared.

O'Doul, who usually appears in the lobby in a dazzling green suit, said he would stick to Joe DiMaggio as the greatest of all time.

"And he's a nice fellow personally," O'Doul concluded.

A TRIFLE PUZZLING.

One of the delegates to the convention became slightly involved with a well-known beverage and started down in the elevator of the hotel this morning and got off at the ground floor. He pleasantly inquired the way to the coffee shop, and was instructed to take the elevator and go down two more floors.

The delegate asked no questions, but took the elevator again and went on down there. After a little food, he started out and saw what looked like an entrance to a street. Following up his hunch, he discovered that, sure enough, it was the street.

This puzzled him no little. He thought surely he was on the ground level when he went down two floors. He walked on around the block and there was the entrance to the hotel, all right.

"This meeting is too much for me," he confided to a friend. "I'm taking the night train back home."

This was something like a little incident that happened not long ago in Atlanta.

A stranger accosted a slightly inebriated gentleman at Five Points, and inquired the way to the post office.

"Lesh see; you go down two blocks and turn to the—no, that's not right. You walk right down this street to that light there and—no, thash not right, either. Stranger, you just can't get to the post office from here."

TENNESSEE MAY FOOL 'EM.

Opinion of writers from the east and midwest who are doing the stories of the baseball convention is that the Tennessee football team is a little overrated.

They have an idea, for instance, that Southern California would slaughter the so-called Tennessee Innocents. They figure that Tennessee really played a really tough club in three years.

This idea is slightly erroneous. Alabama is one the Vols play every year, and Alabama is no set-up by any stretch of the imagination.

The Tide showed what it could do in the final game of this season against Vanderbilt. "Bama also beat Fordham."

There is naturally a lot of talk about Tennessee's schedule, but the schedule doesn't make Tennessee a bad football team. Guards don't come any better than Suffridge and Molinsky. The Tennessee line has been stout enough to keep teams like L. S. U., Vandy, Alabama and Kentucky from scoring.

It's hard to see eye-to-eye with any observers who think that any team in the country would run away with the Vols. As Red Barnes, former Alabama great who now is managing a baseball team in Kentucky, put it today: "You've got to give the old major credit."

"His teams go out and score, then he sends in the reserves and let's them play around with the opposition. He never runs up any tremendous scores against opponents."

And that's a fact, except when Tennessee was playing Harry Mehre's teams. The major slaughtered Georgia and Ole Miss.

The Tennessee team, which has the inside track for the Rose Bowl, certainly would go as a representative southern team. It would be a much stronger team than Alabama was when it went two years ago.

It might not be quite as tough defensively as Duke was a year ago, but certainly would show a stronger offense.

No, there's no reason for selling Tennessee's chances so short on account of a schedule. Ball players are what you pay off on—ball players and coaches, and none can say that Major Neyland isn't a good coach.

THREE CORNELL STARS SELECTED ON ASSOCIATED PRESS ALL-EAST SQUAD

Cornell University's Big Red team, eastern champion, takes major honors with three star players chosen for the Associated Press All-East football team. Pennsylvania, Army, Boston College, Georgetown, Holy Cross, Dartmouth, N. Y. U. and Fordham placed.

Tide Ran for Last Point So as Not To Lose Ball

Sington Praises Georgia Defense, Cate, Kimsey, Murphy, Cavette at Touchdown Club.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

Freddie Sington, who used to habitate the Alabama line and now does a lot of things, including officiating in college ball games, took a busman's holiday Saturday and sat in the stands as Tech played Georgia.

Therefore, Sington made the sole report on the game to the Touchdown Club yesterday at the Ansley.

"I think Wally Butts has done a great job of coaching," Freddie started out. "The Georgia line charged, blocked and tackled hard."

NOT SO ROUGH.

"I don't think there was a lot of roughness in the game. What there was was hard, honest efforts on both sides."

Sington praised the play of Captain Vassa Cate and Truck Kimsey, of Georgia, and Captain Buck Murphy and Hawk Cavette, of Tech.

"Tech's offense was good but Georgia did a great job of stopping it. Georgia's scouting must have been swell because they certainly did stop most of Tech's trick stuff."

Pictures of the Georgia-Auburn game were shown through the courtesy of Coach Butts, who sent them over from Athens. The Bulldog-Jack pictures will be shown next week.

ELECTION MONDAY.

The election of officers for next season will take place at next Monday's meeting, President Evered Strupper announced.

Pup Phillips had the honor of making two reports to the club. He officiated in the Alabama-Vanderbilt and the Tulane-L. S. U. games.

"Vandy looked good in the first half against Alabama," Pup said. "But long runs by the Alabama players took the zip out of them. Alabama's blocking downfield was great, therefore, the backs had little to do but run once they got past the scrimmage line."

"An interesting thing happened just as the game was over. Alabama had just scored as the final whistle blew."

So they had to try for the extra-point from placement. Alabama was lined up to try for a placement when the referee walked over and said, "If you boys want that ball, you had better not kick into those stands because you'll never get it back. The game's over."

The Alabama team called a quick huddle and then tried to run for the extra point. They didn't want to lose that ball.

Pup said the L. S. U. team was the wildest offensive battles he had ever seen. There were two touchdowns in every quarter, with the score tied until the last, when the Wave made both the scores.

"Despite adva. a publicity, it was one of the cleanest games I have ever seen," he said. "Both teams tackled and fought hard but there was no unnecessary roughness."

George Gardner reported the Florida-Auburn game and praised the defensive play of the 'Gators.

"GATORS STRONGER."

"Florida is coming along," he said, "and will be plenty tough next year. This Harrison is a good back. The kicking of both teams stood out. Auburn missed 'organ, regular center, who was out with an injury."

Buck Cheves worked the Kentucky-Tennessee game. It was a hard but not dirty game. Tennessee looked great for 12 minutes and sports writers raised the question if the Vols could go for 60 minutes. I don't know, but I'll really take them while they are going."

Next week's meeting will be the last of the regular season for the popular organization but another will be held in order to present the club trophy to the outstanding player in the Southeastern conference.

Ben Brown Top Fighter In Dixieland

No Other Southerner Ranks So High; Overlin Coming Friday.

Atlanta's own Ben Brown, is the leading fighter of the southland. The 22-year-old middleweight who meets Ken Overlin, No. 1 title contender at the city auditorium Monday night, is the only Southerner to rank as high as fifth nationally, and this takes in all the divisions from heavyweight down to flyweight.

Brown, possessing all the weapons for a great ring machine, including speed, skill and punching power, is the main hope of Dixie fight fans when world championships are mentioned. Many observers believe that if Brown sticks to business and observes training rules, he has a good chance to gain the middleweight throne.

Ben has a way of being at his best when his back is against the wall. He was doped to lose his second bout with Teddy Yarosz, but won nine of the 10 rounds. They said he couldn't beat Babe Risko after the ex-champion held him to a draw, but Ben knocked Risko out in their next fight. Battling Burroughs gave Brown a close, hard fight and there were those who contended Ben was in for a licking next time, but it was the old story—Brown slashed him to ribbons. Ralph Chong beat the Atlanta boy at Miami, but Ben knocked him out in five rounds here.

Ken Overlin is the only fighter ever to win a return fight from Brown. He has whipped Ben twice and fought him to a draw. Brown is determined to turn the tables on the leading contender Monday night and his followers are confident Ben will come through in this important, crucial test, just as he always has done in the past.

Overlin, who easily defeated Babe Orgovan at Washington, D. C., last night, will arrive in Atlanta Friday, accompanied by manager, Chris Dundee.

Tickets will go on sale Wednesday downtown and reservations are already being accepted at J.A. 1711.

Ken Overlin Wallops Orgovan at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Ken Overlin, of Washington, won a unanimous decision over Babe Orgovan, of New York city, in an eight-round bout tonight. The bout served only as a warmup for Overlin's fight with Ben Brown in Atlanta Monday night.

Orgovan, short and stocky, was outclassed by the tall and slender Overlin. He got in past the Washingtonian's guard only a few times in the whole bout.

Overlin, using mainly left jabs, kept Orgovan on the defensive throughout. With a right cross to Orgovan's left eye, he knocked the New Yorker down for the count of nine in the third round. Overlin weighed 162 1-2; Orgovan, 161 1-4.

Council Asks Mayor For Stadium Funds

Hartsfield Authorized to Confer With RFC to Get Funds for Project.

By ROY WHITE.

First definite steps toward a city municipal athletic stadium were taken yesterday afternoon when city council unanimously passed a resolution requesting Mayor Hartsfield to appoint a committee to confer with federal agencies, seeking funds for the movement.

The resolution was introduced by Howard Haire Sr., councilman from the sixth ward.

Atlanta has long needed such a stadium. It is the only city of its size in the United States without one.

High school football teams have to play their early season games at Tech when the Crackers are in the Southern league play-offs.

In the recent Tech High-Boys' High football game at Ponce de Leon park, several thousand were turned away and some 2,000 others were forced to stand throughout the game on the sidelines and in the stands.

In introduction of the resolution, Councilman Haire pointed out that the funds could be secured through the RFC and without obligation to Atlanta taxpayers. Rentals in the course of time would more than pay for the stadium.

Need of such a stadium has been pointed out many times before, but the recent Tech High-Boys' High game was proof enough of the immediate need.

Atlanta has Boys' High, Tech High, G. M. A. Commercial, Marietta College and Fulton High, playing games wherever they can. Only Decatur, Russell, North Fulton and West Fulton have suitable places, though they can't accommodate more than 1,500 spectators comfortably.

A big municipal stadium would provide for league football among the many junior high school and sandlot teams, now deprived of a place except vacant fields, not suitable for football or spectators.

Both Georgia Tech and the Atlanta baseball company have provided fields for the preps as far as possible, but with an increasing interest in football, even in the colored high school and college teams, a new municipal stadium is the only answer, solving the problem of the "orphaned" teams.

Mark Cooper Leads Rifle Club Shooters

Mark Cooper, of Rome, Ga., set the pace Sunday morning in the Atlanta Rifle Club's shoot at its indoor range, 143 1-2 Alabama street, with 396 out of 400 targets.

Charley Hamby, Atlanta's best marksman, was only one target back for second place, with Carl Jackson, another target back in third place.

Mrs. Catherine Symmes demonstrated her remarkable ability to keep pace with the best masculine rifle shots. She finished with 384x400, a point ahead of her son, who is one of the best junior experts in Dixie.

THE SCORES:

Mark Cooper, Rome, 396; Charles Hamby, 384; Carl Jackson, 384; Amos Brown, 384; Ridley Reynolds, Rome, 387; Jimmy Holmes, 384; Catherine Symmes, 384; J. Symmes, 383; Ferd Ward, 383; V. Murphy, 382; L. C. Elrod, 375; Dickerson, 371; Vibberts, 357, and W. E. Dix, 340.

ATLANTA CLUB MAY GET CASH FOR OUTFIELDER

Mann, Richards Seeks Players; Very Little Trading Is Done.

By JACK TROY.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 4.—Cracker officials are running into the same old difficulties at the national minor league meeting. Acceptable ball players are as hard to secure as a victory over the Yankees. Any Redleg will tell you how tough there it.

Manager Richards and President Mann have been in conference with Bill Terry regarding the two players the Giants owe the Crackers in the Rucker deal.

But Terry doesn't want to let any players go that would be acceptable to the Atlanta club. He hasn't got too many players in the first place.

It seems to boil down to one thing—Terry in the end probably will pay off the Crackers. In other words, the Rucker deal may turn into a stock cash proposition of around $38,000.

And yet, this wouldn't help the Crackers solve their present needs. They need ball players worse than they need the old do-re-mi. Above all, the Crackers need a second baseman. And one along the pattern of Al Rubelling is desirable. But needing one and getting the right one are two different matters.

There has been very little trading to date. Knoxville has turned up with Merritt (Sugar) Cain, Carrollton, Ga. boy who last year pitched for St. Paul. Cain was secured in a trade for Woody Abernathy.

Chattanooga secured an outfielder from Seattle named Mike Hunt. He formerly was home run king of the Cubs, and last year pitched for St. Paul. Cain was secured in a trade for Woody Abernathy.

The Atlanta club expects to make some headway before the meeting ends, but right now the going is tough.

The Southern Association voted to raise its present salary limit and discussed proposed amendments to the minor league constitution.

No other action was taken. Major Trammell Scott, president, reported at the convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

The St. Paul club of the American Association sold one player outright and made a two-for-one swap in another transaction.

Infielder Tony York, who once was given a trial by the Chicago Cubs, was sold to Shreveport in the Texas league.

Outfielder pitcher "Sugar" Cain and outfielder Malin "Bibi" McCullough were sent to Knoxville in the Southern baseball meeting in Cincinnati.

Baseball in Darkest Spot Since Scandal—Bramham

CINCINNATI, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A chubby, usually jovial judge, named by the Minor Leagues seven years ago to lead them from a depression morass, lashed business agents of the clubs today with the assertion that baseball "is in the darkest spot since the Black Sox scandal."

William G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, spared nothing but names as he told the first day's gathering of the minors that contracts were being hidden and forged, that even attendance figures were being falsified and that some clubs' affairs were in the hands of incompetent individuals.

While hundreds of baseball men thronged the hotel headquarters of the convention, milling through the lobbies and halls, the minor leaguers took the show away from the major league magnates who talked singly and in groups, but accomplished nothing.

CONTRACTS FORGED.

"We have a case before us now in which a club filed 14 contracts calling for salaries from $60 to $90 per month. We found that the players had not signed those contracts, but that their names had been forged," Bramham asserted.

Bramham said the 41 leagues in the association reported a total attendance of 18,500,000 during the past year, a new record, but that the figure probably should be halved.

"I can't even get, confidentially, the exact attendance figures from some of you club owners," he protested, "because you're afraid they'll get you into income tax trouble or something. Sometimes you give a different report to your league president than you do to me."

Smithies Play at Jacksonville Jan. 1; Purples Depart for Miami

TECH HIGH TEAM IN CHARITY TILT WITH ALL-STARS

Kiwanis Club To Sponsor Third Annual New Year's Game.

By ROY WHITE.

Tech High's football team has been selected to play a Jacksonville all-star high school eleven in a New Year's charity game at Jacksonville, Fla.

W. O. Cheney, principal of Tech High, accepted the invitation Monday in a long distance telephone conversation with Jacksonville officials, after a previous "feeler" had been received several days ago.

"Tech High is one of the most colorful high school teams ever to appear in Jacksonville and we are proud to have it return here for the third successive charity game," Florida spokesmen said Monday.

Two years ago Tech High battled Julia Landon High to a 12-to-12 tie in a post-season charity game and last year the Smithies fought Andrew Jackson to a 7-to-7 tie in another charity game at Jacksonville.

TO RESUME DRILLS.

Practice at Tech High was suspended two weeks ago, immediately following the Smithies' 34-to-7 victory over Charlotte High in Charlotte, N. C., but will be resumed late in December.

Coch Gabe Tolbert was ill and unable to be at school Monday, but said that Tech High will not return to practice until Tuesday after Christmas. A couple of practice sessions will be held next week just before school closes for the holiday season.

Coch Tolbert Monday issued a statement to the boys, requesting them to keep in training, though no practices will be held this week and be ready for some four or five days of rough work, just prior to the New Year's charity game at Jacksonville.

TEAM OF ALL-STARS.

Jacksonville's all-star team will be made up from outstanding players on all of Jacksonville's high schools. The Florida officials made no announcement Monday as to who their coach would be, but it is likely that some of the University of Florida coaches will be named to handle the all-stars. The "Gator" staff has coached the Jacksonville stars for the past two seasons.

It's unusual for a team beaten twice during the regular season to be selected for a post-season charity game, but that indicates the fine impression Tech High has made with Jacksonville fans in its past two games. It's a real tribute to Atlanta's prep football.

The game is being sponsored by the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club for its under-privileged children's fund.

JACKET VARSITY BEGINS VACATION

Work for Miami Go To Start Dec. 11; Cripples To Be Ready.

The Tech varsity yesterday began a week's vacation to rest weary aches and bruises from a terrific schedule before resuming work December 11 for their Orange Bowl game on January 1 in Miami.

Pictures of the Tech-Georgia game were shown a selected few in Coach Alex's office.

A few of the reserves will be worked this week, but serious practice for the bowl game won't start until next week.

All cripples will be ready in a couple of weeks. Johnny Bosch, Harry Arthur, George Webb, Billy Gibson, Butch Aderholt, Bo Richards and Hawk Cavette all have ailments of some kind, but they will soon be all right.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Those enthusiastic second guessers who call themselves Montgomery's Monday Morning Quarterback Club wired congratulations today to Coach W. A. Alexander and his Georgia Tech Engineers on their selection to play in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day.

The telegram was dispatched at the final meeting of the club, composed of alumni of Auburn, Alabama and other schools. Headed by W. A. Barton, the organization, which has been getting together each Monday to talk over the week end's football games, also included a number of former gridiron players.

Butts' Eleven Fears Power of Miamians

Bill Hartman Warns Bulldogs Against Hard Running of Fox and Noppenberg.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 4.—Power and plenty of it awaits the University of Georgia Bulldogs when they meet the improved Miami Hurricane in the Orange Bowl stadium Friday night, Scout Bill Hartman reported to the Red and Black today.

Coach Hartman said the Hurricane played probably its best game of the year against North Carolina State last Friday night, running up 27 points, mostly on sheer power.

"They took the kickoff and marched 80 yards for a touchdown without ever relinquishing the ball," Hartman said. "On no single play did they make more than 18 yards or less than three, which is a pretty good indication of just how powerful Miami is."

FOX AND NOPPENBERG.

"Fox and Noppenberg were doing most of the running over guard and tackle with 'Lefty' Shemer, one of the finest southern paw passers I've seen, tossing an occasional pass. Shemer is one of the most dangerous backs in the south, in my opinion," Hartman reported.

Coach Wallace Butts sent his charges through a light drill this afternoon and after they had watched the Miami plays run in slow motion, the entire squad went to the showers after about an hour's work.

The Bulldog mentor said there would be no more rough work for his Bulldogs this season.

SPRAINED ANKLE.

Georgia came out of the Tech game in pretty good condition. Tommy Green's sprained ankle being the most severe casualty.

The squad, of course, had the usual number of bruises and scratches. With the possible exception of Green the entire team will be ready to go Friday night.

The Bulldogs are battered and bruised from the terrific punishment they have taken since the start of the season, but whether they'll be able to regain their spirit before the Miami tilt remains to be seen.

BOXING TOURNAMENT ENDS AT N. G. C.

DAHLONEGA, Dec. 4.—The fourth annual Freshman Boxing Tournament at North Georgia College ended in the college gym with the final bouts in all weights.

Although many of the participants were novices, who had never experienced a ring encounter, many of the fighters showed exceptional ability, including Carl Chapman, Macon; James Elrod, Ringgold; Curtis Allen, Lawrenceville; and Billy Carlton, Union Point. The winners of weights, representing all sections of the state, will receive watch charms.

The freshmen champions are: Curtis Allen, Lawrenceville, won the paperweight by forfeit of George Thompson, Winder. Billy Carlton, Union Point, became flyweight champ by his first round knockout of Elmer Crew, Whigham. Edward Porter, Thomasville, won the bantamweight title by decision from Donald Willis, Nashville, after two extra rounds.

Carl Chapman, Macon, became light weight champion by decision from Frank Garrison, Atlanta. James Elrod, Ringgold, won the welterweight title by his second-round technical knockout of Emory Marshall, Tennille. Ike Pittard, Duluth, won the junior welterweight title from Duke Martin, Chickamauga, by a decision after two extra rounds.

Dorsey Jones, Tallapoosa, kayoed Fred Jones, Dahlonega, in the third round, to win the middleweight title. Johnny Peck, Atlanta, kayoed Frank Bowman, Titon, in the second round, to annex the light heavyweight title. John Barfield, Hahira, became heavy-weight champ by decision from Harry Murray, Atlanta.

BOYS' HI DRILLS IN ORANGE BOWL ON WEDNESDAY

Twenty-Six Players Make Trip; Miami Unbeaten and Untied.

By ROY WHITE.

Boys' High's city and state championship football team will leave the city at 9 o'clock this morning for Miami, Fla., where the Purples will close their 1939 season Thursday night with undefeated and untied Miami High. The Purples will spend tonight at Jacksonville and resume the journey to Miami early Wednesday morning, arriving in plenty of time for a two-hour workout in the Orange bowl Wednesday afternoon. A new streamlined train making its third trip to Miami will cut off a couple of hours running time between Jacksonville and Miami and allow extra time for practice.

Coach Shorty Doyal announced Monday afternoon 26 players, Buck Anderson and H. DeFreeze, centers; Jake Cox, Jack Jordan, Dan Kennerly, A. Almond and B. Richards, guards; Red Eaves, Howard Haire Jr., Kale Alexander, Charlie Furchgott, B. Brandenberg and M. Miller, tackles; Captain Dick Conger, John Brown, Jack McKinney, and L. Cohen, ends; Loftin Smith and Bill Glass, quarterbacks; Ralph Kennerly, Hoyt Fincher and Bill Bailey, left halfbacks; Buddy Jarvis and J. Kenimer, right halfbacks and Al Berman and George Thompson, fullbacks, to make the trip.

THREE COACHES ALONG.

Managers Chafin and Dickens, Coaches Shorty Doyal, Dwight Keith and Bill Orgain, Dr. Rufus Askew, and newspapermen will complete the group making the trip.

The Purples held a long drill Monday afternoon, but no rough work was attempted. It was mostly blocking and dummy work, against Miami High plays. There will be no work at all today as the team will arrive at Jacksonville early tonight.

The two-hour drill Wednesday in the Orange bowl, where Tech will play a January 1 game, will complete Boys' High's practice for the year, unless a post-season game is arranged.

Miami High has its best team in recent years and is looking forward to checking Boys' High's winning streak. Several years ago after Boys' High had won 34 games in a row, Miami High stopped that streak. Also, Miami was the last team to beat the Purples (10 to 0) to end last season.

Coach Jess Yarbrough, of Miami High, has personally scouted Boys' High three times this season, twice in Atlanta and once at Macon when the Purples beat Lanier High, 6 to 0. Yarbrough was in the stands along with many college coaches when the Purples beat Monroe Aggies, 14 to 7, Friday night for Georgia's prep championship.

The Miami coach made a small wager that the Stingers would beat Boys' High Thursday night—"and it will be with speed to spare," he added. "Boys' High will outweight Miami some 10 pounds per man, but our fleet backs will outrun the Purples."

Boys' High has been unable to scout Miami and is taking the word of several friends for information on the team.

Seward Recommended To Battle Miami.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 4.—(UP)—A Florida committee today recommended the selection of Seward and Park High school from New York's lower east side to meet Miami High in the first "Health" Bowl football game here Christmas night.

The recommendation was made by a committee headed by William T. Edwards, of Jacksonville, and was directed to the National Sports Council which is sponsoring the game here in part of a nationwide program in the infantile paralysis benefit campaign.

Both Seward and Miami High are unbeaten.

Colquitt Cage Teams Open With Victories

COLQUITT, Ga., Dec. 4.—Colquitt High school won a double victory over Arlington's basketball teams in opening the local season. The girls won 28 to 24, with Debarry and Gordon, outstanding.

In the boys' game, Shorty Everson and Jack Stanton led Colquitt to a 38-to-13 victory and a clean sweep in the first double-header.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Rose Bowl promoters won't pick the contending teams for the New Year's Day festival until after Southern California battles U. C. L. A. and Tennessee meets Auburn on Saturday, and the country's football experts won't arrive at their final decision on which is the No. 1 team of the season.

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 4.—(UP)—The Dallas Cotton Bowl made its bid for the major New Year's Day football game tonight with a formal invitation to Texas A. & M. College and Tennessee to play for the "national championship."

Both schools were offered a flat guarantee of $85,000 cash to meet in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day. The offer was the largest ever made a football team for a single game.

year until those games are played. In the next-to-last Associated Press ranking poll of the season, they appear to have decided on Texas A. & M. The all-winning Southwest conference champions, breaking out of last week's tie for the lead with Southern Cal, moved back into outright possession of first place today with a total of 763 points out of a possible 870.

Twenty-eight of the 87 ballots ranked the Farmers at the head of the list, and there wasn't a single expert who placed them lower than sixth.

Tennessee, pushed down to fourth position a week ago, came rocketing back into second place after its defensively powerful exhibition against Kentucky. Polling 19 first-place votes, the Vols accumulated 741 points, to trail the Aggies by only 22 and lead U. S. C. by 32. The Trojans got 18 nominations for first place, to 15 for Cornell, which dropped into fourth position. Tulane, practically a fixture in fifth, remained there for another week.

Outside of Tennessee's rise and Cornell's drop, the major changes occurred in the lower half of the first 10. There U. C. L. A., which has its own ideas about Southern California's eligibility for the Rose Bowl and will attempt to put them in practice Saturday, came out of the second 10 into ninth place. Duke, tied by Detroit in its finale after winning all its other games, skidded from sixth to tenth; Duke advanced from seventh to sixth, Missouri from eighth to seventh, and Iowa from ninth to eighth, while Holy Cross, tenth a week ago, dropped down with the last of the also-rans after its thorough defeat by Boston College.

Standing of the teams (points figured on 10-9-8, etc., basis, first-place votes in parentheses):

TEAM—Points
1. Texas A. & M. (28) 763
2. Tennessee (19) 741
3. Southern California (18) 709
4. Cornell (15) 665
5. Tulane (5) 572
6. Duke (1) 307
7. Missouri 242
8. Iowa 138
9. U. C. L. A. 99 1-2
10. Duquesne 90

Second Ten: 11. Notre Dame 88 1-2; 12. Ohio State 82; 13. Georgia Tech 62; 14. Boston College 57; 15. Clemson (1) 46; 16. Santa Clara 39; 17. Nebraska 21; tied for 18. Fordham and San Jose (California) State, 20 each; 20. Georgetown 19.

Also-Ran: Michigan 13; Princeton and North Carolina, 11 each; Oregon State and Southern Methodist, 6 each; Villanova 4; Oklahoma 3; Holy Cross, Colorado and Minnesota, 1 each.

Southpaw Frank Killen Dies After Heart Attack

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Frank Killen, former southpaw pitcher, whose National league record of 26 victories in a season, is still unequalled by a left-hander, died of a heart attack yesterday.

Killen, 69, entered the majors in 1893, he scored 36 triumphs as against 12 defeats, with a dozen of the victories consecutive.

In 1906 he failed in a brief comeback try as a hurler for Memphis. Recently he operated a hotel and tavern in Pittsburgh.

Polanski Tops Scorers in Southern Conference

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 4.—(AP)—John Polanski, Wake Forest's 205-pound sophomore fullback, won the 1939 Southern conference scoring crown in a runaway race which produced a total of 91 points.

He succeeds Paul Shu, Virginia Military captain, who set the scoring pace in both 1937 and 1938 with 65 and 75 points, respectively. Polanski, who hails from Buffalo, N. Y., tallied 14 touchdowns and seven points after touchdowns.

Polanski will bring the strongest backfield in colored football to Atlanta in Burr, quarterback, Jumping Joe Hall and Whitlock, halfbacks, and Hurst and Land, fullbacks. These boys come to Atlanta with the intention of tearing through the Morris Brown eleven in a game that will give them undisputed possession of the national championship.

The classic will be held annually with the best colored teams of the nation competing.

Virginia State will be protecting a two-year undefeated record. In the past four years they have lost only one game and that to Morgan College in 1936. They are coached by Harry Jefferson, Jimmy Moore and Veedell, the latter being a one-time star at Northwestern University.

CHAPMAN SCORES U. S. INDIFFERENCE TO FOREIGN TRADE

University Dean Tells Atlanta Rotarians Policy Has Cost Dixie Almost Half of Cotton Exports.

Indifference to foreign trade, manifested both by the public and by government officials, has cost the south between 40 and 50 per cent of its export cotton business, was the opinion emphasized yesterday by Dean Paul W. Chapman, of the University of Georgia's college of agriculture, in an address to the Rotary Club here, who said this loss could be interpreted to mean that "about 500,000 cotton farms and about 2,000,000 people have been deprived of the occupation to which they have thus far devoted their lives."

"There are many reasons for the loss of foreign markets," he said, "but the most important is that the people of the United States, as a whole, are not interested in foreign trade, and that those who shape policies of this nation have not at all times been fully conversant with the importance of foreign trade in relation to the national welfare."

Dixie Depends on Exports. Chapman said that southern farmers more than any other large group in the country "are dependent upon foreign markets for their income."

He named Japan as "one of the few great potential purchasers of American cotton," and observed: "To those of us who live in the cotton south, which normally exports more than one-half the crop, it is of vital concern to read that the chairman of the foreign relations committee in the senate is at this moment contemplating the introduction of a bill in congress which would authorize the President to place embargoes against exports to Japan."

Republican Prediction. "In 1922, one of the great leaders of the Republican party said that if the nationalistic attitude of the United States, as evidenced in the erection of high tariff barriers, became the program for which the party stood, the time was not far distant when one-third of the wheat land of the United States would revert to the primitive state in which it was first discovered and that 50 per cent of the cotton land of the United States would go back to forests."

"This prediction has not, as yet, come true in full, but the present expenditures for agricultural adjustment represent in large measure the present policy of the United States to forestall the normal results of a nationalistic policy as forecast by Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, almost 20 years ago."

"The policy of the present administration is not so nationalistic in the recent past but we are still a people, as a whole, who have no conception of the extent to which foreign trade is necessary for the prosperity of this nation."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

DIXIE LEADER TALK ON CONSERVATION

Rivers, Cone Head Delegates To Florida Conference.

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Dec. 4.—(P)—Officials of six southeastern states, headed by the Governors of Georgia and Florida, disposed of preliminaries today and settled down to the task of finding means for conservation, particularly of water supplies.

Governor Rivers, of Georgia, joined in the day's proceedings and heard Florida's Governor Cone welcome delegates to the fifth southeastern planning conference and promise the state's help in their work.

Abel Wolman, of Baltimore, chairman of the water committee of the National Resources Planning Board, struck the meeting's keynote with a plea for adequate conservation of southeast Florida's water.

COURT GIVES ICC UNWANTED DUTIES

Rules It May Regulate Carrier Workers' Hours.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(P)—A three-judge federal court ruled today that the Interstate Commerce Commission has authority to regulate the hours of all employees of common and contract motor carriers.
